MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 23.—Ruin and death, wrecked homes, broken families, maimed bodies, scenes and incidents that tear at the heart and brought an appeal for help by the governor were revealed to me in forty hours of duty in Alabama's storm-torn districts.

I had just returned from Clanton in Chilton County, hardest hit in the great storm area in which I found 272 were dead and nearly a thousand injured, when Governor B. M. Miller issued his appeal.

HOUSE LEADERS HIT WHEN INHERITANCE TAX SYSTEM PASSED

Marshal Forces For Final
Effort To Pass
Sales Tax

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The battered house leadership called time out today for a last effort to marshal its weakening lines against the forward-surge of the sales tax opponents.

Confident for a time that they had assuaged the opposition by agreeing to exempt all food, clothing and medicine from the sales levy, the leaders suffered another defeat late yesterday when the house voted 190 to 149 to impose on inheritances a super-tax ranging up to 45 per cent.

Then amid cries for a vote on the sales tax, the leaders adjourned the house and sought refuge in parliamentary procedure which requires the house to consider minor calendar bills today. This will keep the sales tax issue off the floor until tomorrow.

The leaders of both parties devoted today to missionary work, cheering those who have stood by them thus far and seeking to win back some of the wavering members who have joined with the sales tax opposition led by Reps. LaGuardia, (R), N. Y., and Dougherty, (D), N. C., in voting heavy income and estate taxes on the rich.

Acting Chairman Crisp of the ways and means committee, which drafted the tax bill which the house has been ripping to pieces, conceded that he saw little hope for the sales tax. Republican floor leader Snell was equally glum.

Democratic Floor Leader Rainey, however, continued to predict that the sales tax would be passed with food and clothing exempted when it came to a show-down vote.

Speaker Garner was so dejected that he left the floor when the house in yesterday's turbulent session adopted the heavy inheritance tax.

The new inheritance tax, ranging up to 45 per cent on estates of $10,000,000 or more, supplements the present maximum 20 per cent levy on which states which have inheritance taxes are allowed an 80 per cent credit.

Even if the new estate tax becomes law, the taxpayer must first pay the present tax, on which the state credit is allowed. In addition, he would pay the difference between the old tax and the new.

Thus federal government would get its 20 per cent under the present rates and all the excess under the new levy.

The new super-tax on inheritances provides an initial exemption of $50,000. The rates begin with one per cent on the first $10,000 above $50,000 and rise to 45 per cent on $10,000,000 or over.

Rev. Ramseyer, (R), Ia., author of the new rates, estimated they would bring in at least $400,000,000 annually when fully operative. He admitted they would be of little help toward balancing the budget next year.

Crisp declared Ramseyer's estimates were far too generous.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—Income tax collections for the twenty-one days of March total $178,567,112. The figures exceed the treasury's estimates of March collection, $175,000,000.

SHERIFF CONVICTED OF PADDING BILLS; MAY DEMAND OUSTER

Lucas County Official
Certified False Food
Accounts

TOLEDO, O., March 23.—Sheriff Joseph Zimmerman of Lucas County was found guilty of certifying false food accounts by a jury in common pleas court here late yesterday shortly after Judge Roy R. Stuart had called the jurors, apparently in a hopeless deadlock, before him and emphasized there should be no difficulty in coming to a verdict.

A wide difference of opinion existed among county officials today as to whether Sheriff Zimmerman will be removed from office because of his conviction.

The sheriff declared today he had no intention of resigning and that he would await whatever action might be taken to remove him.

John W. Hackett, attorney for Zimmerman, said a motion for a new trial would be filed within three days, and intimated he would appeal the case if the new trial is denied.

The conviction carries a possible penitentiary sentence of from one to ten years on each count. There were five counts.

In the event Sheriff Zimmerman is removed from office before the expiration of his term appointment of his successor for the remainder of his term would be made by the board of county commissioners.

THEY'RE ALONE NOW

Mrs. Golney Seymour, Apache Indian, shown above with her six-month-old papoose, does not realize the significance of the life sentence meted out to her husband in a "white man's court" at Globe, Ariz., for the murder of Miss Henrietta Schermer, Columbia University co-ed, slain last summer. Seymour herself did not comprehend the meaning of the verdict when it was returned. Insert is Seymour.

An all-day search by tips of the ice-coated waters of the Ohio River yesterday failed to disclose the woman passenger's fate. Although the water search still continued, searchers planned to scout the rugged hills flanking both banks of the river on the theory Dr. Cole leaped out before the plane crossed the stream and crashed on a bank of the island.

The body of George was returned to Detroit for burial.

STEUBENVILLE, O., March 23.—Search turned to the hills flanking the Ohio River today for trace of Dr. Carol Cole, St. Louis woman physician, who apparently was killed when a mail plane crashed on Brown Island, carrying the pilot, Harold George, to his death.

Although the water search still continued, searchers planned to scout the rugged hills flanking both banks of the river on the theory Dr. Cole leaped out before the plane crossed the stream and crashed on a bank of the island.

The body of George was returned to Detroit for burial.

RAILROAD TO DROP
DETROIT SERVICE

COLUMBUS, O., March 23.—The Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railroad today was authorized by the public utilities commission to abandon passenger service between Springfield and the Ohio-Michigan state line, effective April 9.

Commission to abandon service from Springfield to Ironton, which also had been asked by the company, was refused on the ground there is no other adequate service operating in the territory.

The company operates one passenger train daily each way, except Sunday, between Ironton and Detroit, and had sought to discontinue the service because of lack of patronage and declining revenues.

BEAUTIES ARE FEW

COLUMBUS, O., March 23.—There are only 32,856 naturally beautiful women in Ohio, according to Mm. Helena Rubinstein, internationally known beauty specialist. Basing her estimate on a study which showed that out of 1,000 women, only ten are natural beauties, Mm. Rubinstein said that only one per cent of Ohio's 3,285,556 women are truly beautiful.

GREEN BAY, Wis., March 23.—Ben Fontaine, scoffed today when he learned police credited him with unusual bravery for knocking down a hold up man with his fist.

"I'm neither brave nor foolhardy," Fontaine explained. "I was all set to give the fellow my money when his gun touched my ribs."

"Let him have it then. I can't stand being tickled."

KIDNAPING TARGET SHOOT'S THREE; GUN USER BADLY BEATEN

Violence Outgrowth Of
Frank; Feud Breaks
Into Open

COLUMBIA, Mo., March 23.—A bitter college feud between University of Missouri engineers and law students today passed from hazing to actual violence with three students suffering gunshot wounds and a fourth in the hospital with a possible skull fracture.

Kidnaping of a co-ed, Mary Louise Butterfield of Kansas City, last Saturday so she could not reign as queen of the engineers' ball brought an attempted reprisal that ended in gunplay.

Burns Frederick, law student who had been identified as one of Miss Butterfield's abductors, shot three engineering students when they tried to kidnap him in revenge.

Frederick, after he had wounded Frank Luckey of Columbia; Charles Love of Jefferson City, and Jerry F. Cebe of St. Louis, was beaten severely by the engineers. His skull may be fractured.

Luckey was shot in the abdomen, and physicians after an operation, described his condition as "serious."

Three automobiles bearing eleven engineering students surrounded Frederick's rooming house last night, determined to kidnap him and even the score with the law. Miss Butterfield had said he was one of a group who captured her in front of her sorority house.

Frederick, as he came out of his house, was stormed by the engineering students.

"Leave me alone, or I'll shoot," he shouted.

When the students surrounded him, he drew a .38 caliber revolver and shot Love in the leg. Then he ran down the street, turning several times to fire at his pursuers.

One bullet struck Luckey. He fell to the sidewalk, wounded in the abdomen.

Frederick ran two more blocks and onto the porch of a private residence where he fired his last bullet which grazed Cebe's leg.

The youth, his gun empty, was bound by the remaining students and carried away in an automobile. While the deputy sheriffs hunted him, Frederick was in the hands of his abductors, being driven around Columbia streets in their car.

He was tossed out in front of a hospital, still bound and with a huge welt on his head.

Frederick faces possible criminal charges in connection with the wounding of the three youths.

The feud between the engineering and law school students at Missouri is of long standing, but always before it has been confined to minor hazing.

ALLEGED SLAYER
LOSES HIS APPEAL

COLUMBUS, O., March 23.—John W. Glascock, Cleveland, must die in the electric chair at Ohio Penitentiary for the slaying of James Ryan, Cleveland policeman, the Ohio Supreme Court held, Wednesday, in affirming the Cuyahoga County courts.

Glascock was given a stay of execution when the court of appeals took his case under advisement, according to Warden P. E. Thomas. The supreme court will fix a date for the execution.

Glascock sought to set up a claim that the trial court erred in not charging the various degrees of homicide to the jury.

ACTRESS MUST PAY $40,000 FOR LOVE

NEW YORK, March 23.—Mrs. Maybelle Manton yesterday was awarded $40,000 against Marjorie Rambeau, actress.

Mrs. Manton had asked for $100,000, alleging that she had surprised her husband, Kevin Manton, now dead, and Miss Rambeau in the latter's hotel apartment.

The suit was undefended, although in a previous trial both Miss Rambeau and Manton asserted they were rehearsing a play when Mrs. Manton raided the apartment.

COAL STRIKE MAY SPREAD INTO WEST VIRGINIA COAL FIELDS

ATHENS, O., March 23.—Reports that the mine strike would spread to the eastern Ohio and West Virginia fields were heard in the Hocking Valley today.

Scale committees of these fields are to meet with committees from the Hocking-Sunday Creek regions in Bellare Thursday, according to reports.

Rumors of the meeting followed announcement by the Hanna Company that the day rate for miners in the eastern Ohio coal field would be cut from $4.30 to $3.20.

It was said that the company would close the mines if the workers did not accept the new rate.

In the meantime, operators of the Hocking Valley had resorted to the injunction to halt disorders of striking miners at their mine No. 6 at Millfield.

A petition asking an injunction restraining the United Mine Workers of America from picketing, trespassing on its property, and attempting to intimidate its employees was filed in Athens County Common Pleas Court here by the Sunday Creek Coal Company.

The suit was directed against the national, international and district offices of the United Mine Workers, and seventy-five members of local unions. No date has been set for the hearing.

The strikers continued to picket the property and all roads leading to the mine.

Ohio National Guard officers, deputy sheriffs and mine guards were on duty at Millfield following the dynamiting of a railroad trestle late Saturday and the blasting of a railroad switch on a spur track leading to the mine.

These disorders occurred after pledges were made by mine union leaders, after a conference with Governor White, that they would endeavor to prevent further acts of violence in the district.

The real task of controlling the strikers was expected to arise when some of the mines attempt to start operations. Owners of a number of mines were said to be considering resumption of work.

NATURALIST AND ILLUSTRATOR DIES

ORNDILL, N. J., Mar. 23.—Charles Livingston Bull, naturalist, animal painter, illustrator and author died here at his home late yesterday. He was 57 years old.

Bull was one of the best known illustrators of animal stories in the United States. President Roosevelt once remarked of his work that "Bull is the only man who can put legs on four sides of an animal and make it look natural."

His interest in animals led to a study of natural science. He was long identified with Ward's Museum in Rochester, and the National Museum. He also had traveled widely as a big game hunter, being associated with Roy Chapman Andrews, William Beebe and the late Carl E. Akeley.

TRIAL EVIDENCE

WARREN, O., March 23.—Miss Genell E. Mann, court stenographer who took notes in the trial of George Barrett of Cleveland, charged with the murder of Earl Gamble during a holdup, is dead and nobody has been able to decipher her notes on the case.

The fact that Miss Mann died before transcribing her notes leaves the status of the Barrett case uncertain. Barrett had carried his case to the court of appeals after he had been convicted.

BRITAIN WAS EXPECTED TO STAND firmly on the terms of the Anglo-Irish treaty, to indicate in the clearest language the consequences of any such breach in the treaty.

The British government, it was understood, desires that any controversy be conducted with dignity and patience. It was considered possible that the dispute might be referred to a tribunal.

Dominions Secretary J. H. Thomas was expected to announce the government policy in the house of commons after the cabinet meeting.

Thomas conferred last night with Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald on the Irish situation. It was Thomas who broke the news to the house of commons yesterday that the free state government had notified Britain of its intention to abolish immediately the oath of allegiance to King George which is taken by members of the Irish Dail.

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 23.—The Lindbergh kidnaping mystery entered its fourth week today apparently no nearer solution than the morning after the sleeping baby was stolen from his nursery crib.

Three new lines of investigation yesterday failed to produce any results.

H. Wallace Caldwell, member of the Chicago board of education, informed reporters at Trenton he possessed "certain information which is best yet, and I am not working alone on it."

But Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf, directing state police activities, said: "Mr. Caldwell reported to these headquarters some information concerning the case," he said.

"This information has been checked and found to be of no importance to this investigation. Any further information he may have is to be further checked and investigated."

In his last bulletin of the day Col. Schwarzkopf summed up the day's developments as follows: "Investigators returning today have not reported anything of news value."

New York police raided an apartment at 1815 Grand Concourse, The Bronx, on the tip that they might find Harry Fleischer, reputed member of Detroit's "Purple Gang," hiding out there. The raid yielded no incriminating evidence.

On a report that lumber of the type used in the ladder by which kidnapers entered the second story of the Lindbergh home had been found in a farm house near Neshanic, Sergeant Robert Coar of Jersey City and Corporal William Lear of the state police visited the place.

They found lumber, newspapers, some as late as March 17, soiled dishes, and other evidences of recent occupation. However, Edward Kutchera, New York cabinetmaker who owns the farm, said he had taken the newspapers there himself. He had noticed, he said, that some trespassers had been on his property.

NEW YORK, March 23.—The coast guard cutter Kickapoo is proceeding to the assistance of the steamer Marjory Weems, ashore off Seaport, Maine, according to a message intercepted today by the Radio Marine Co. of America.

The Marjory Weems, of 2,323 gross tons, carries a crew of forty-one men. It is a freighter, belonging to the Baltimore and Carolina line, of Baltimore, Md. It was built in 1919 at Duluth, Minn.

BRITISH PLAN FIRM POLICY IN HANDLING IRISH FREE STATE

LONDON, March 23.—Announcement of a firm British policy toward the Republic of Ireland was expected today as the cabinet considered Eamon De Valera's plan to renounce the oath of allegiance to the crown and land annuities paid England.

TOLL OF STORM

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 23.—The latest United Press survey of the storm stricken areas in the south showed a total of 272 dead and 989 injured.

A tabulation of the dead and injured by states showed the following:

Georgia	32	75
Tennessee	17	34
Kentucky	2	4
South Carolina	1	4

stricken people were being provided, Governor Miller, citing the intense suffering of the community asked:

"Citizens of Alabama and others able to help, to contribute as they are able to the relief of the storm stricken area, through the Red Cross."

Here's the picture as I have found it, the picture that has moved the governor to call for relief of the homeless, hungry and injured:

One trip took us past leveled telephone and telegraph lines, along roads strewn with debris, blocked here and there by fallen trees. A flashlight that flickered and blinked among the ruins of crumpled homes revealed the dead.

Further up the road, we were blocked by splintered jumbled timbers of what had been a home, lifted in air and dropped in a heap in our path.

And a few moments later we met a weeping father, carrying a crying baby. The father sought his wife, missing in the storm, and later found her dead.

We came upon another man who had thrown a heavy overcoat over his shoulders and stood gazing sileently at the ruins of what had been his home.

He was former Sheriff J. L. Gore of Chilton County, living at Union Grove where not a home was left standing, where only one family, the Gore family, was spared death.

"It was an act of providence we were not all killed," he said. "The storm came so quick—we were seated at the table eating. When I came to, I was wedged under a trunk out in the yard. I pushed the trunk off and found I was not hurt."

"The wind was howling like mad. I heard my son call out from across the yard. He was lying against the stump of a tree."

Claims

COLUMBUS, O., March 23.—A new superintendent for the Marysville Reformatory for Women was recommended Wednesday in a report to Governor White by the senate committee on welfare and penal institutions.

Mrs. Louise Mittendorf, is superintendent. Her husband acts as assistant superintendent.

"Both have lost the vigor of youth and the industry of middle life," says the report. "They are relying upon their services rendered in the past and from all appearances are losing their grip upon the institution."

Stating that no personal reflections are intended upon Mrs. Mittendorf, who has been superintendent of the Marysville Reformatory since the opening of the institution in 1916, the report continues:

"Much improvement can be effected at the institution with the proper superintendent and it is the opinion of the committee that the state of Ohio is entitled to have such improvement."

"The committee, therefore, recommends that careful consideration be given to the selection of a suitable person or persons to be placed in charge of this work."

WOMEN'S CLUBS TO

HOUSE LEADERS HIT
WHEN INHERITANCE
TAX SYSTEM PASSED

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The battered house leadership called time out today for a last effort to marshal its weakening lines against the forward-surge army of sales tax opponents.

Confident for a time that they had assuaged the opposition by agreeing to exempt all food, clothing and medicine from the sales levy, the leaders suffered another defeat late yesterday when the house voted 180 to 149 to impose on inheritances a super-tax ranging up to 45 per cent. This would supplement the present estate tax which has a maximum of 20 per cent.

Then amid cries for a vote on the sales tax, the leaders adjourned the house and sought refuge in parliamentary procedure which requires the house to consider minor calendar bills today. This will keep the sales tax issue off the floor until tomorrow.

This would supplement the present estate tax which has a maximum of 20 per cent.

Then amid cries for a vote on the sales tax, the leaders adjourned the house and sought refuge in parliamentary procedure which requires the house to consider minor calendar bills today. This will keep the sales tax issue off the floor until tomorrow.

The leaders of both parties devoted today to missionary work, cheering those who have stood by them thus far and seeking to win back some of the wavering members who have joined with the sales tax opposition led by Reps. LaGuardia, (R), N. Y., and Doughton, (D), N. C., in voting heavy income and estate taxes on the rich.

Acting Chairman Crisp of the ways and means committee, which drafted the tax bill which the house has been ripping to pieces, conceded that he saw little hope for the sales tax. Republican floor leader Snell was equally gloom.

Democratic Floor Leader Rainey, however, continued to predict that the sales tax would be passed with food and clothing exempted when it came to a show-down vote.

Speaker Garner was so dejected that he left the floor when the house in yesterday's turbulent session adopted the heavy inheritance tax.

The new inheritance tax, ranging up to 45 per cent on estates of $10,000,000 or more, supplements the present maximum 20 per cent levy on which states which have inheritance taxes are allowed an 80 per cent credit.

Even if the new estate tax becomes law, the taxpayer must first pay the present tax, on which the state credit is allowed. In addition, he would pay the difference between the old tax and the new.

Thus federal government would get its 20 per cent under the present rates and all the excess under the new levy.

The new super-tax on inheritances provides an initial exemption of $50,000. The rates begin with one per cent on the first $10,000 above $50,000 and rise to 45 per cent on $10,000,000 or over.

Rev. Ramseyer, (R), Ia., author of the new rates, estimated they would bring in at least $400,000,000 annually when fully operative. He admitted they would be of little help toward balancing the budget next year. Crisp declared Ramseyer's estimates were far too generous.

RUSH ASSISTANCE TO GROUNDED SHIP

NEW YORK, March 23.—The coast guard cutter Kickapoo is proceeding to the assistance of the steamer Marjory Weems, ashore off Seaport, Maine, according to a message intercepted today by the Chatham, Mass., station of the Radio Marine Co. of America.

The Marjory Weems, of 2,223 gross tons, carries a crew of forty-one men. It is a freighter, belonging to the Baltimore and Carolina line, of Baltimore, Md. It was built in 1915 at Duluth, Minn.

MORE THAN EXPECTED
WASHINGTON, March 23.—Income tax collections for the first twenty-one days of March total $175,547,112. The figures exceed the treasury's estimates of March collection, $175,500,000.

CHOSEN MAY QUEEN

TIPPIN, O., March 23.—Marie Bachtel of Canton today had been chosen May Queen by Heidelberg College women students. Ruth Schlatter of Archbold was selected as maid of honor.

JUST TICKLISH

GREEN BAY, Wis., March 23.—Ben Fontaine, scoffed today when he learned police credited him with unusual bravery for knocking down a hold up man with his fist.

"I'm neither brave nor foolhardy," Fontaine explained. "I was all set to give the fellow my money when his gun touched my ribs."

"I let him have it then. I can't stand being tickled."

SHERIFF CONVICTED OF PADDING BILLS; MAY DEMAND OUSTER

Lucas County Official
Certified False Food
Accounts

TOLEDO, O., March 23.—Sheriff Joseph Zimmerman of Lucas County was found guilty of certifying false food accounts by a jury in common pleas court here late yesterday shortly after Judge Roy R. Stuart had called the jurors, apparently in a hopeless deadlock, before him and emphasized there should be no difficulty in coming to a verdict.

A wide difference of opinion existed among county officials today as to whether Sheriff Zimmerman will be removed from office because of his conviction.

The sheriff declared today he had no intention of resigning and that he would await whatever action might be taken to remove him.

John W. Hackett, attorney for Zimmerman, said a motion for a new trial would be filed within three days, and intimated he would appeal the case if the new trial is denied.

The conviction carries a possible penitentiary sentence of from one to ten years on each count. There were five counts.

In the event Sheriff Zimmerman is removed from office before the expiration of his term appointment of his successor for the remainder of his term would be made by the board of county commissioners.

CONTINUE SEARCH FOR WOMAN'S BODY

STUEBENVILLE, O., March 23.—Search turned to the hills fronting the Ohio River today for trace of Dr. Carol Cole, St. Louis woman physician, who apparently was killed when a mail plane crashed on Brown Island, carrying the pilot, Harold George, to his death.

An all-day search by tugs of the ice-coated waters of the Ohio River yesterday failed to disclose the woman passenger's fate. Although the water search still continued, searchers planned to scout the rugged hills lining both banks of the river on the theory Dr. Cole leaped out before the plane crossed the stream and crashed on a bank of the island.

The body of George was returned to Detroit for burial.

RAILROAD TO DROP
DETROIT SERVICE

COLUMBUS, O., March 23.—The Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railroad today was authorized by the public utilities commission to abandon passenger service between Springfield and the Ohio-Michigan state line, effective April 9.

Permission to discontinue service from Springfield to Ironton, which had been asked by the company, was refused on the ground there is no other adequate service operating in the territory.

The company operates one passenger train daily each way, except Sunday, between Ironton and Detroit, and had sought to discontinue the service because of lack of patronage and declining revenues.

BEAUTIES ARE FEW

COLUMBUS, O., March 23.—There are only 32,856 naturally beautiful women in Ohio, according to Mlle. Helena Rubinstein, internationally known beauty specialist. Basing her estimate on a study which showed that out of 1,000 women, only ten are natural beauties, Mlle. Rubinstein said that only one per cent of Ohio's 3,285,556 women are truly beautiful.

THEY'RE ALONE NOW

Mrs. Goin Seymour, Apache Indian, shown above with her six-month-old papoose, does not realize the significance of the life sentence meted out to her husband in a "white man's court" at Globe, Ariz., for the murder of Miss Henrietta Schmierer, Columbia University co-ed, slain last summer. Seymour herself did not comprehend the meaning of the verdict when it was returned. Insert is Seymour.

WOMAN ARRESTED AT TENNIS MATCH WHEN SHE CREATED SCENE

Battles To Present
French Ace With Paper Knife

NEW YORK, March 23.—An attractive young woman, an ardent admirer of Jean Borotra, French tennis ace, was held for observation at Bellevue Hospital today because she battled at the international tennis match last night, to present Jean with a dagger-shaped paper knife.

The sight of the gleaming knife and the screams of the girl, as she fought with her detractors, so unnerved Borotra, and his doubles team-mate, Antoine Gentien, that they lost their match to George M. Lott of Chicago and John Van Ryn of Philadelphia, 15-13, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4, giving the United States a 2 to 1 advantage in the matches.

Leaping to her feet in the low gallery at the Seventh Regiment Armory, the dark-haired girl in a huge fur coat, pulled the knife from her handbag. She waved it at Borotra, who, at the moment, was courted below, in one of the longest sets in the history of board-surface tennis, with the score 13-all.

Fearing that she would toss the knife down at the Frenchman, nearby spectators attempted to stop her. A struggle ensued, meanwhile the tennis players halted their game.

Borotra and Gentien stood dumbfounded, gazing in astonishment at the scene in the gallery. Attendants hurried to the aid of the spectators. Finally Patrolman William Ward arrived, and the girl was half carried, half dragged down the stairs and out of the building.

At the police station, the girl explained she had meant no harm, but merely wanted to give the knife to Borotra as a token of her admiration. She pulled a wad of newspaper clippings, in which Borotra's picture occupied the major space, from her bag as proof.

After the hub-bub had subsided, the tennis match was resumed, but the excitement had disquieted Gentien and he lost his service, deciding the set, which the Americans won 15-12.

The series will be concluded tomorrow night, with Gregory Manzin of Newark, N. J., new national indoor singles champion, meeting Borotra, and Frank X. Shields opposing Bousus. If the latter has recovered

KIDNAPING TARGET SHOOTS THREE; GUN USER BADLY BEATEN

Violence Outgrowth Of
Prank; Feud Breaks
Into Open

COLUMBIA, Mo., March 23.—A bitter college feud between University of Missouri engineers and law students today passed from hazing to actual violence with three students suffering gunshot wounds and a fourth in the hospital with a possible skull fracture.

Kidnaping of a co-ed, Mary Louise Butterfield of Kansas City, last Saturday so she could not reign as queen of the engineers' ball brought an attempted reprisal that ended in gunplay.

Burnis Frederick, law student who had been identified as one of Miss Butterfield's abductors, shot three engineering students when they tried to kidnap him in revenge.

Frederick, after he had wounded Frank Luckey of Columbia; Charles Love of Jefferson City, and Jerry F. Cebe of St. Louis, was beaten severely by the engineers. His skull may be fractured.

Luckey was shot in the abdomen, and physicians after an operation, described his condition as "serious."

Three automobiles bearing eleven engineering students surrounded Frederick's rooming house last night, determined to kidnap him and even the score with the lawyers. Miss Butterfield had said he was one of a group who captured her in front of her sorority house. Frederick, as he came out of his house, was stormed by the engineering students.

"Leave me alone, or I'll shoot," he shouted.

When the students surrounded him, he drew a .38 caliber revolver and shot Love in the leg. Then he ran down the street, turning several times to fire at his pursuers.

A bullet struck Luckey. He fell to the sidewalk, wounded in the abdomen.

Frederick ran two more blocks and onto the porch of a private residence where he fired his last bullet which grazed Cebe's leg.

The youth, his gun empty, was bound by the remaining students and carried away in an automobile. While the deputy sheriffs hunted him, Frederick was in the hands of his abductors, being driven around Columbia streets in their car.

He was tossed out in front of a hospital, still bound and with a huge welt on his head.

Frederick faces possible criminal charges in connection with the wounding of the three youths.

The feud between the engineering and law school students at Missouri is of long standing, but always before it has been confined to minor hazings.

ALLEGED SLAYER
LOSES HIS APPEAL

COLUMBUS, O., March 23.—John W. Glascock, Cleveland, must die in the electric chair at Ohio Penitentiary for the slaying of James Ryan, Cleveland policeman, at the Ohio Supreme Court held, Wednesday, in affirming the Cuyahoga County courts.

Glascock was given a stay of execution when the court of appeals took his case under advisement, according to Warden P. E. Thomas. The supreme court will fix a date for the execution.

Glascock sought to set up a claim that the trial court erred in not charging the various degrees of homicide to the jury.

ACTRESS MUST PAY
$40,000 FOR LOVE

NEW YORK, March 23.—Mrs. Maybel Manton yesterday was awarded $40,000 against Marjorie Rambeau, actress.

Mrs. Manton had asked for $100,000, alleging that she had surprised her husband, Kevin Manton, now dead, and Miss Rambeau in the latter's hotel apartment.

The suit was undefended, although in a previous trial both Miss Rambeau and Manton asserted they were rehearsing a play when Mrs. Manton raided the apartment.

LUTHERAN CHURCH IS PLANNING HOLY THURSDAY SERVICE

"Some Legal Aspects of the Trial of Christ," is the subject of a special Holy Week message to be presented at the First Lutheran Church by the pastor, the Rev. Adrian G. Lebold, Thursday, at 7:30 p. m. There will be a preparatory service for the Holy Communion in connection.

Having made a long study of the various aspects of the trial of Christ, the Rev. Mr. Lebold will describe the Sanhedrin court, its defendants, laws and trials, and how all of these greatly overstepped their authority prior to the crucifixion of Christ. He will describe the trial before the Jews as well as the stand Jesus took before the representatives of the Roman government.

It was while touring Palestine several years ago that the Rev. Mr. Lebold began his study of the famous trial. Diagrams, illustrations, maps, places of trial, and other detailed information will be used in making the entire trial proceeding more realistic.

The choir, under direction of Miss Henrietta Fudge and accompanied by Mrs. C. P. Mellage, will present two anthems appropriate for the occasion.

The Holy Thursday service is an annual affair and attracts a large audience, many persons coming because of the beautiful music and the impressiveness of the worship.

What Well-Dressed Bather Will Wear

Here are a few of the styles that will decorate the beaches this summer displayed by some of Hollywood's shining light. On the left, Mary Carlyle is wearing a two-piece swim suit of the new ribbed material. It is of solid color with brassiere model top and is set off with contrasting white belt. Next, Leila Hyams shows her choice of aquatic costume. It is the new B. V. D. model of light ribbed wool, in black and white. The bow belt adds a touch of piquancy. Second from right, Leila displays a charming jacket for wear over a bathing suit. It is of the same design as the suit and makes an attractive ensemble. At the extreme right, Anita Page presents her favorite suit. It is a one-piece model with narrow shoulder straps and low-cut back. It has a skirt and a belt to contrast with the suit.

CHURCHES TO UNITE TO PRESENT EASTER CANTATA ON SUNDAY

A cantata, "The Gospel of Easter," will be presented by thirty-three members of combined choirs of the Beaver Reformed and Mt. Zion Churches Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the Beaver Church, Dayton Pike. The cantata will be repeated at the Mt. Zion Church Sunday evening.

Miss Elizabeth Ankney will direct the singers and Mrs. Otto Keller will be accompanist. The Rev. A. P. Hilgeman, supply pastor of the two churches, is business manager.

Personnel of the choir follows: sopranos: Mrs. Raymond Tobias, Mrs. Ward Boyer, Mrs. John Munger, Mrs. George Sugden, Mrs. Norman Smith, the Misses Annelle McMichael, Josephine Ankney, Doris Smith and Florence Stafford; Altos: Mrs. C. Hubbell, the Misses Nelle Ankney, Irene Stafford, Thelma Barth, Geneva McMichael, Pauline Andrew, Jean Fair and Rachel Ankney;

Tenors: George Sugden, Nelson Ankney, Robert Kable, Carl McMichael, F. C. Hubbell, Ward Boyer and Elwood Andrew;

Basses: D. O. Jones, Albert S. Ankney, Howard Penewit, Raymond Tobias, John Munger, Clifton Engle, Meryl Ferguson and W. B. Hawker.

ROY FITZGERALD IS KIWANIS SPEAKER

Roy G. Fitzgerald, Dayton, former congressman and a member of the Yorktown Sesqui-Centennial Commission, spoke on "George Washington and the American Revolution" at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club at the Elks' Club Tuesday evening. He gave an interesting sketch of Washington's life and discussed the outstanding figures and events during the Revolutionary War.

"Mike" Drees, Covington, O., lieutenant governor of Kiwanis, was a guest at the meeting and spoke briefly. The club had as its invited guests for the evening Charles L. Darlington, Dr. B. R. McClellan, Capt. Harold L. Hays, of the O. S. and S. O. Home, and Messrs. Myers and Stevenson, of Covington, who accompanied Mr. Drees here.

EVANGELIST HEARD ON CHRISTIAN DUTY

"Christian Duty" was the subject of Evangelist F. W. Strong, Ft. Worth, Tex., at revival services under the auspices of the Church of Christ at the Opera House Tuesday evening. A delegation from Greenfield attended the service.

Miss Mattie Wofford, who is assisting in the services, sang a solo, "The City of Dreams." In the afternoon a group of children attended a Bible class under the direction of Miss Wofford. The Rev. Mr. Strong will speak on "Brotherly Love," Wednesday evening.

MUSCULAR-RHEUMATIC PAINS

DRAW them out with a "counter-irritant." Muscular lumbago, soreness and stiffness—generally respond to good old Musterole. Doctors call it a "counter-irritant" because its warming action penetrates and stimulates blood circulation and helps to draw out infection and pain. It gets action and is not just a salve. But do not stop with one application. Apply this soothing, cooling, healing ointment generously to the affected area once every hour for five hours. Used by millions for over 20 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. All druggists.

To Mothers—Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

"GRASSHOPPER" ERA PASSES

Little Railroad With Odd Nickname May Be Abandoned Entirely Soon

ABANDONMENT of its 14.5-mile Kingman branch line, locally known as the "Grasshopper," which extends from Jeffersonville in Fayette County, passes through Bowersville and terminates at Port William in Clinton County, was asked by the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railroad in a formal application filed with the public utilities commission Tuesday.

In anticipation of a joint hearing with the Interstate Commerce Commission, the utilities commission did not designate a date for consideration of the application.

The railroad, in its formal pleading, claimed that no passenger trains were operated on the branch; that there was no regular freight service; that in the last five years a large open deficit had accrued; that there was necessity for large expenditures for repairs, and that the territory is well served by highways on which truck lines are operated.

The D. T. and I. branch, one of three steam roads which reach Greene County but do not pass through Xenia, was originally projected on a much larger scale more than half a century ago.

Of the score of railroads projected to pass through this county between 1850 and 1880, there was only one which gave any promise of what its promoters claimed for it, and the "Grasshopper" branch stands today amidst its grass-grown environment as the unfulfilled dream of someone who had hoped to build a straight line railroad between Cincinnati and Columbus.

It had been the ambition of more than one company to construct a direct line from Cincinnati to Columbus, but it was not until the Miami Valley and Columbus Co. was organized that any thing definite was done toward construction of the road.

As planned, the line was to run between Columbus and Waynesville, and at the latter town it was to connect with what was then called the Cincinnati Northern, now the Pennsylvania.

Construction on the road began in 1877 and all seemed to be going well. Suddenly, in 1880, the entire plan collapsed and since that year not a shovel of dirt was thrown or a tie laid on this road, about which citizens had been talking for years.

All that is left of the project is the small branch line, and about twenty miles of grade. Distance between Columbus and Waynesville, three miles south of the Greene-Warren County line, is about seventy-five miles, and newspapers of the day reported that at least fifty miles of the distance had been graded when work was suspended.

There were several different propositions to complete the road as first proposed, but nothing ever developed. The part built belongs to the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton, and has been usually referred to as the Kingman branch of the road, or, for some reason, familiarly known as the "Grasshopper."

RICHMOND, Va.—The Garden Club of Virginia has issued an official list of ninety-eight historic old colonial gardens, all privately owned, which will be thrown open to the public from April 25, for a small admission fee, which will go to the restoration of old Stratford birthplaces, of three of the most famous men in American history.

Made specially for BABIES and CHILDREN

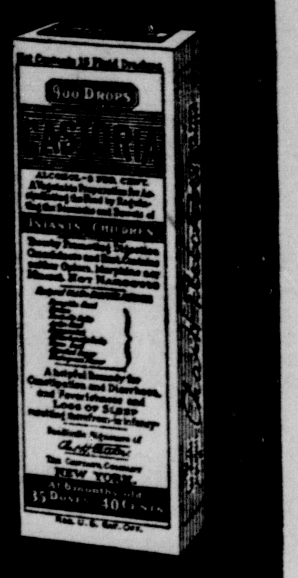

Physicians tell us that one condition is nearly always present when a child has a digestive upset, a starting cold or other little ailment. Constipation.

When little bowels get clogged, body wastes accumulate, and poisons and infection find a fertile breeding place.

The first step towards relief is to rid the body of impure wastes. And for this nothing is better than genuine time-proven Castoria!

Castoria is a pure vegetable preparation made specially for babies and children. This means it is mild and gentle enough for their delicate organs. Yet it is always effective.

CASTORIA CHILDREN CRY FOR IT

And of course it contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics. Genuine Castoria always bears the name, Chas. H. Fletcher. It now comes in two sizes. The new family size contains about 2 1/2 times the amount in the regular size.

LUTHERAN CHURCH IS PLANNING HOLY THURSDAY SERVICE

"Some Legal Aspects of the Trial of Christ," is the subject of a special Holy Week message to be presented at the First Lutheran Church by the pastor, the Rev. Adrian G. Lebold, Thursday, at 7:30 p. m. There will be a preparatory service for the Holy Communion in connection.

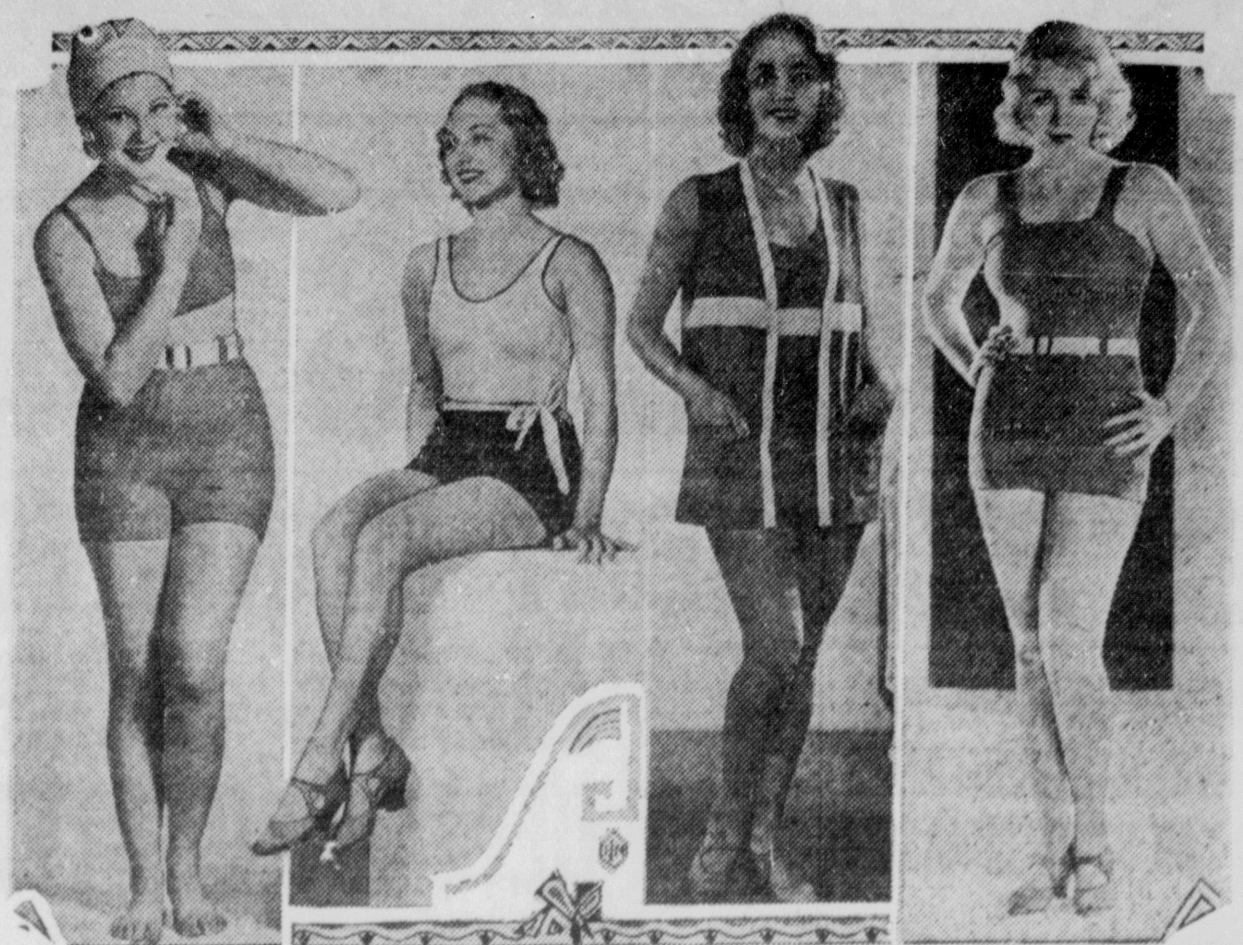

Having made a long study of the various aspects of the trial of Christ, the Rev. Mr. Lebold will describe the Sanhedrin court, its defendants, laws and trials, and how all of these greatly overstepped their authority prior to the crucifixion of Christ. He will describe the trial before the Jews as well as the stand Jesus took before the representatives of the Roman government.

It was while touring Palestine several years ago that the Rev. Mr. Lebold began his study of the famous trial. Diagrams, illustrating maps, places of trial, and other detailed information will be used in making the entire trial proceeding more realistic.

The choir, under direction of Miss Henrietta Fudge and accompanied by Mrs. C. F. Mellage, will present two anthems appropriate for the occasion.

The Holy Thursday service is an annual affair and attracts a large audience, many persons coming because of the beautiful music and the impressiveness of the worship.

What Well-Dressed Bather Will Wear

Here are a few of the styles that will decorate the beaches this Summer displayed by some of Hollywood's shining light. On the left, Mary Carlisle is wearing a two-piece swim suit of the new ribbed material. It is of solid color with brassiere model top and is set off with contrasting white belt. Next, Leila Hyams shows her choice of aquatic costume. It is the new B. V. D. model of light ribbed wool, in black and white. The bow belt adds a touch of piquancy. Second from right, Leila displays a charming jacket for wear over a bathing suit. It is of the same design as the suit and makes an attractive ensemble. At the extreme right, Anita Page presents her favorite suit. It is a one-piece model with narrow shoulder straps and low-cut back. It has a skirt and a belt to contrast with the suit.

CHURCHES TO UNITE TO PRESENT EASTER CANTATA ON SUNDAY

A cantata, "The Gospel of Easter," will be presented by thirty-three members of combined choirs of the Beaver Reformed and Mt. Zion Churches Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the Beaver Church, Dayton Pike. The cantata will be repeated at the Mt. Zion Church Sunday evening.

Miss Elizabeth Ankney will direct the singers and Mrs. Otto Keller will be accompanist. The Rev. A. P. Hilgeman, supply pastor of the two churches, is business manager.

Personnel of the choir follows: sopranos: Mrs. Raymond Tobias, Mrs. Ward Boyer, Mrs. John Munger, Mrs. George Sugden, Mrs. Norman Smith, the Misses Annabelle McMichael, Josephine Ankney, Doris Smith and Florence Stafford; Altos: Mrs. Nelson Ankney, Mrs. F. C. Hubbell, the Misses Nellie Ankney, Irene Stafford, Thelma Barth, Geneva McMichael, Pauline Andrew, Jean Fair and Rachel Ankney;

Tenors: George Sugden, Nelson Ankney, Robert Kable, Carl McMichael, F. C. Hubbell, Ward Boyer and Elwood Andrew;

Basses: D. O. Jones, Albert S. Ankney, Howard Penewit, Raymond Tobias, John Munger, Clifton Engle, Meryl Ferguson and W. B. Hawker.

"GRASSHOPPER" ERA PASSES

Little Railroad With Odd Nickname May Be Abandoned Entirely Soon

ABANDONMENT of its 14.5-mile Kingman branch line, locally known as the "Grasshopper," which extends from Jeffersonville in Fayette County, passes through Bowersville and terminates at Port William in Clinton County, was asked by the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railroad in a formal application filed with the public utilities commission Tuesday.

In anticipation of a joint hearing with the Interstate Commerce Commission, the utilities commission did not designate a date for consideration of the application.

The railroad, in its formal pleading, claimed that no passenger trains were operated on the branch; that there was no regular freight service; that in the last five years a large open deficit had accrued; that there was necessity for large expenditures for repairs, and that the territory is well served by highways on which truck lines are operated.

The D. T. and I. branch, one of three steam roads which reach Greene County but do not pass through Xenia, was originally projected on a much larger scale more than half a century ago.

Of the score of railroads proposed to pass through this county between 1850 and 1880, there was only one which gave any promise of what its promoters claimed for it, and the "Grasshopper" branch stands today amidst its grass-grown environment as the unfulfilled dream of someone who had hoped to build a straight line railroad between Cincinnati and Columbus.

It had been the ambition of more than one company to construct a direct line from Cincinnati to Columbus, but it was not until the Miami Valley and Columbus Co. was organized that any thing definite was done toward construction of the road.

As planned, the line was to run between Columbus and Waynesville, and at the latter town it was to connect with what was then called the Cincinnati Northern, now the Pennsylvania.

Construction on the road began in 1877 and all seemed to be going well. Suddenly, in 1880, the entire plan collapsed and since that year not a shovel of dirt was thrown or a tie laid on this road, about which citizens had been talking for years.

All that is left of the project is the small branch line, and about twenty miles of grade. Distance between Columbus and Waynesville, three miles south of the Greene-Warren County line, is about seventy-five miles, and newspapers of the day reported that at least fifty miles of the distance had been graded when work was suspended.

There were several different propositions to complete the road as first proposed, but nothing ever developed. The part built belongs to the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton, and has been usually referred to as the Kingman branch of the road, or, for some reason, familiarly known as the "Grasshopper."

EX-CINCINNATI MAYOR HEARD HERE

George Puchta, former mayor of Cincinnati, gave an interesting address on "George Washington" as guest speaker of the Xenia Rotary Club at its luncheon meeting in its rooms in the Donges Bldg., Tuesday noon.

Mr. Puchta discussed the important events in the life of America's first President from the time of his birth until his death.

MUNICIPAL COURT

98 Old Gardens Listed

RICHMOND, Va.—The Garden Club of Virginia has issued an official list of ninety-eight historic old colonial gardens, all privately owned, which will be thrown open to the public from April 25, for a small admission fee, which will go to the restoration of old Stratford birthplaces, of three of the most famous men in American history.

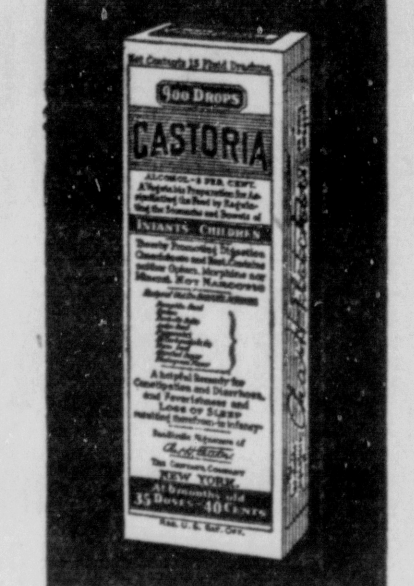

Made specially for BABIES and CHILDREN

Physicians tell us that one condition is nearly always present when a child has a digestive upset, a starting cold or other little ailment. Constipation.

When little bowels get clogged, body wastes accumulate, and poisons and infection find a fertile breeding place.

The first step towards relief is to rid the body of impure wastes. And for this nothing is better than genuine time-proven Castoria.

Castoria is a pure vegetable preparation made specially for babies and children. This means it is mild and gentle enough for their delicate organs. Yet it is always effective.

And of course it contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics.

Genuine Castoria always bears the name, Chas. H. Fletcher. It now comes in two sizes. The new family size contains about 2 1/2 times the amount in the regular size.

ROY FITZGERALD IS KIWANIS SPEAKER

Roy G. Fitzgerald, Dayton, former congressman and a member of the Yorktown Sequat-Centennial commission, spoke on "George Washington and the American Revolution" at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club at the Elks' Club Tuesday evening. He gave an interesting sketch of Washington's life and discussed the outstanding figures and events during the Revolutionary War.

"Mike" Drees, Covington, O., lieutenant governor of Kiwanis, was a guest at the meeting and spoke briefly. The club had as its invited guests for the evening Charles L. Darlington, Dr. B. R. McClellan, Capt. Harold L. Hays, of the O. S. and S. O. Home, and Messrs. Myers and Stevenson, of Covington, who accompanied Mr. Drees here.

EVANGELIST HEARD ON CHRISTIAN DUTY

"Christian Duty" was the subject of Evangelist F. W. Strong, Ft. Worth, Tex., at revival services under the auspices of the Church of Christ at the Opera House Tuesday evening. A delegation from Greenfield attended the service.

Miss Mattie Wofford, who is assisting in the services, sang a solo, "The City of Dreams." In the afternoon a group of children attended a Bible class under the direction of Miss Wofford. The Rev. Mr. Strong will speak on "Brotherly Love," Wednesday evening.

MUSCULAR-RHEUMATIC PAINS

DRAW them out with a "counter-irritant." Muscular lumbago, soreness and stiffness—generally respond to good old Musterole. Doctors call it a "counter-irritant" because its warming action penetrates and stimulates blood circulation and helps to draw out infection and pain. It gets action and is not just a salve. But do not stop with one application. Apply this soothing, cooling, healing ointment generously to the affected area once every hour for five hours. Used by millions for over 20 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. All druggists.

To Mothers—Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

Don't Irritate Your Intestines

Some laxatives are irritating to the sensitive intestinal nerves. Others increase intestinal bulk (like fodder), part of which always remains behind to ferment and decay. Others "lubricate," coating intestinal walls with oily fluid, which may interfere with digestion. Don't take a chance. Use French Lick Salts, the remarkably efficient systemic regulator. Easily and naturally, it produces thorough elimination; tones and regulars all body secretions and excretions, promotes normal processes, causing them to work harmoniously. Quickly relieves even stubborn constipation. Makes you feel PINE!

French Lick Salts is a blend of the same health-giving mineral salts found in the spring waters at famous French Lick Springs. In cool water it effervesces merrily, is as pleasant-tasting as a fine fountain drink. To keep "regular," take a little at least once each week. If you are reducing, take French Lick Salts as an aid—see coupon below. Today, at your druggist's, buy a generous bottle, 50c.

Xenians To Celebrate Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon

MONDAY will be a significant date for Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Gordon, 600 N. Detroit St., who, on that day, will celebrate their sixtieth wedding anniversary. An informal family dinner will be enjoyed at noon at the home and a reception will be held in the afternoon from 2:30 until 5 o'clock and in the evening from 7 until 10 o'clock. Relatives and friends of the couple are invited to the reception.

Miss Caroline Thomas, daughter of G. W. and Dolly Thomas.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon resided on this farm near South Solon until 1898 when they moved to London, O., after Mr. Gordon had been elected sheriff of Madison County. He served in this office four years.

An interesting incident in Mr. Gordon's career as sheriff occurred on January 6, 1902 when he was sent by Governor Nash of Ohio to London, England, after a prisoner, who had been charged with murder. Judge Roscoe G. Hornbeck, London, now one of the three appellate judges in this district, was appointed his deputy and accompanied him on the trip. They were gone two months and visited Paris, France and other places of interest in Europe.

In addition to serving four years as sheriff Mr. Gordon was treasurer of Madison County five years and also mayor of London four years. He also served an additional nine months as mayor later following the death of Mayor Shough. He served on the school board of Stokes Twp., Madison County, fifteen years and was a member of the London school board two years.

During the thirty years he was in public office Mr. Gordon was also engaged in the livery business at London, owned an elevator at Florence's Switch, near London, and was interested in the buying and shipping of livestock.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon moved to Xenia seven years ago. Both Mr. and Mrs. Gordon are in reasonably good health and Mrs. Gordon, who is in her seventy-eighth year, is still the gracious hostess of former years and much credit is due her for her faithfulness, interest and aid rendered her husband during his years in public life.

Mr. Gordon, although in his seventy-ninth year, assists his son, Fred P. Gordon, in the operation of a grocery store on N. Detroit St. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon have two children, Mrs. H. A. Rowand, 277 Broadmoor Ave., Springfield and Fred P. Gordon, this city. They also have four grandchildren: Carl T. and Ralph E. Rowand, Springfield; Mrs. Ruth Johnson, Port William, and Miss Pauline Gordon, teacher at Springfield Hill School; four great grandchildren: Gordon, Richard and Rex Rowand and Max Eugene Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon are members of the Second U. P. Church.

VAN CLEVE HOTEL SUES LITA CHAPLIN

DAYTON, O., March 23.—The Van Cleve Hotel of Dayton has filed suit for $600 against Lita Grey Chaplin, actress and former wife of Charles Chaplin, who appeared at a vaudeville house here a week ago.

The suit charged the hotel was given one check for $300 and two for $150 each, signed by the actress, and that payment on the checks was stopped. The checks, drawn on the National City Bank of New York, were endorsed by William Fortune, Miss Chaplin's manager.

Six trunks belonging to Miss Chaplin were held by the hotel.

DELEGATES NAMED TO DISTRICT MEETING

Mrs. V. G. Martin and Mrs. O. H. Cornwell were named delegates and Mrs. Hazel Toms and Mrs. W. L. Dean, alternates, from the American Legion Auxiliary to a meeting of the third district in Tippecanoe City April 26, at the March meeting at post hall, Court House, Monday evening.

Members were urged to listen to a talk by Mrs. Lee E. Moore, Newark, department secretary of the auxiliary, to be broadcast over station WAIU, Columbus, Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. An American Legion program is broadcast from this station every Friday evening at this time.

Plans were discussed for the part the auxiliary will take in the military ball at the Armory April 8. An interesting paper on George Washington was read by Mrs. Lawrence Shields. Later a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served by the following committee: Mrs. Charles Darlington Jr., chairman; Mrs. Paul Creswell, Mrs. Charles Darlington Sr., Mrs. Emma MacCallmont, Mrs. T. P. Myler, Mrs. Lawrence Shields and Miss Mary O'Dea.

INTERESTING PROGRAM PLANNED FOR BIBLE CLASS

The third of the series of meetings sponsored by the women's prayer meeting committee of the Laymen's Evangelistic Association will be held at the Davidson Bldg., Green St., Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. J. E. Kohl will be in charge. Two special musical numbers, "The Holy Hour" and "The Prayer Perfect," will be sung by Mrs. Lucille Morris, Pittsburgh, who is a guest at the Kohl home. Miss Marjorie Street will be pianist. The Bible study will be led by Mrs. H. E. Eavey. The second chapter of Romans will be discussed and the subject of the lesson will be "God's Basis of Judgment."

A cordial invitation is extended to all women of the community to attend the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Tingley and children, Louisville, Ky., will arrive in Dayton the latter part of this week to spend Easter with Mrs. Tingley's mother, Mrs. Abram Schachne, Superior Ave. Mr. Tingley is a former Xenian.

Xenians To Celebrate Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon

MONDAY will be a significant date for Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Gordon, 600 N. Detroit St., who, on that day, will celebrate their sixtieth wedding anniversary. An informal family dinner will be enjoyed at noon at the home and a reception will be held in the afternoon from 2:30 until 5 o'clock and in the evening from 7 until 10 o'clock. Relatives and friends of the couple are invited to the reception.

Miss Caroline Thomas, daughter of G. W. and Dolly Thomas,

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon resided on this farm near South Solon until 1888 when they moved to London, O., after Mr. Gordon had been elected sheriff of Madison County. He served in this office four years. An interesting incident in Mr. Gordon's career as sheriff occurred on January 6, 1902 when he was sent by Governor Nash of Ohio to London, England, after a prisoner, who had been charged with murder. Judge Roscoe G. Hornbeck, London, now one of the three appellate judges in this district, was appointed his deputy and accompanied him on the trip. They were gone two months and visited Paris, France and other places of interest in Europe.

In addition to serving four years as sheriff Mr. Gordon was treasurer of Madison County five years and also mayor of London four years. He also served an additional nine months as mayor later following the death of Mayor Shough. He served on the school board of Stokes Twp., Madison County, fifteen years and was a member of the London school board two years.

During the thirty years he was in public office Mr. Gordon was also engaged in the livery business at London, owned an elevator at Florence's Switch, near London, and was interested in the buying and shipping of livestock.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon moved to Xenia seven years ago. Both Mr. and Mrs. Gordon are in reasonably good health and Mrs. Gordon, who is in her seventy-eighth year, is still the gracious hostess of former years and much credit is due her for her faithfulness, interest and aid rendered her husband during his years in public life.

Mr. Gordon, although in his seventy-ninth year, assists his son, Fred P. Gordon, in the operation of a grocery store on N. Detroit St. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon have two children, Mrs. H. A. Rowand, 277 Broadmoor Ave., Springfield and

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Who knoweth the spirit of man that goeth upward, and the spirit of the beast that goeth downward to the earth?—Ecclesiastes, iii, 21.

STATE OF ANKUO

The newly created Manchurian state of Ankuo has been described as a republic, which will have to be steered through a period of tutelage by a ruler with dictatorial powers. The selection of Henry Pu Yi for that task is in a sense a restoration of the last Manchu emperor of China to the throne of his ancestors before they passed through the Great Wall to rule China for 268 years.

The last act of the Empress Dowager Tzu Hsi before she died on Nov. 15, 1908, was to proclaim her grand-nephew, Pu Yi, emperor of China in succession to Kuanghsu, whose death preceded her own by only 24 hours. The "boy emperor," as he was called at the time, was then only 4 years of age, a son of Prince Ch'un who was a younger brother of Kuanghsu. When he became emperor he was given the name of Hsuan-t'ung. Ch'un was named regent. The revolution that broke in 1911 was already in the making; and Prince Ch'un, whose character was an odd mixture of tactlessness and stubbornness, was utterly unable successfully to cope with the rising tide of popular revolt. The Great Pure Dynasty which had given the Chinese as an able historian of China records, the best government they ever had, went out of existence on Feb. 12, 1912. With it went Hsuan-t'ung. A condition of his abdication was that he should retain his titles a palace and a pension of 4,000,000 taels a year.

After that Pu Yi, to use his personal name, enjoyed an honorable retirement. Chinese and foreign tutors attended to his education. What little has been made public of his private life pictures him as a normal young man, who would not be likely to seek the anachronistic honors that have just been thrust upon him. Shortly after the Japanese invaded Manchuria last year it was reported that Pu Yi had been "spirited" out of China and was being "groomed" for the leadership of a new state to be erected in Manchuria under Japanese auspices. Called to the throne of China by palace intrigue on the eve of revolution, Pu Yi may find if China and the Western Powers refuse to recognize Ankuo as a legitimate state, that the end of his public life is no less troubled than its beginning.

Other Editorial Thoughts

BACK TO THE FARM VILLAGE

For a number of years there has been so much talk about America's deserted farms and the rush of youth to the large cities that many were beginning to fear the country districts would soon become depopulated. The exodus however, has not been so pronounced as some statistics would seem to indicate, and for a decade or more there has been in numerous sections a marked trend in the opposite direction.

Although farming in general has probably been less profitable than in some periods in the past, certain forms of it have become more remunerative. The last few generations have seen a marked change in consumers' demand regarding food, and in consequence there has arisen an excellent market for fruit, vegetables and poultry and dairy products. In market gardening and in poultry and dairy plants the personal factor is still more important than machinery, and large amounts of labor continue to be required for economical production.

The advantage of this newer type of farming is not confined to the greater variety of products demanded, but in many places is closely associated with improved local markets. With the motortruck and good roads many a farmer can develop within a few hours' haul a number of select customers for such articles as he may produce. Taken as a whole, the outlook for the intelligent farmer is not entirely dark, and many who some years ago deserted that occupation are now beginning to recognize its advantages and are returning.

Improved living conditions in the country also have much to do with the recent trend in that direction. Present-day facilities for communication and modern conveniences in the home are making residence in the country more desirable; and hand in hand with these adjuncts of everyday life have come some of the cultural opportunities so long regarded as the exclusive possession of the city.

A potent influence working for a better distribution of population is the growing practice of locating industries in small towns and villages. In literally thousands of towns of less than 5,000 population in the United States there is a total dearth of industries except such as rely directly upon agriculture. This situation has tended to narrow the view and contract the sympathies of both the farmer and the industrialist. The wider diffusion of industries will be of great advantage to all.

To the farmer it means improved living conditions, more varied contacts, better markets and increased cultural opportunities. To the factory man who formerly worked and lived in congested quarters in some city it means reduced living costs, a more commodious home, a garden for flowers and vegetables, and most likely opportunity for some outside diversion and income such as poultry raising. Above all, it takes him and his family away from the dirt and noise of the city and brings them into close contact with nature.

Improved farm conditions and the scattering of factories can do much to rejuvenate decadent villages and make them once again the important factor in national life they were in our early history. If they grasp their opportunities, they not only will develop for the farmer improved trade facilities, but will provide suitable channels for innumerable social activities now greatly needed. Educational advantages can be brought on a par with those in progressive cities and the instincts for beauty can be given opportunity for expression.

To the factory worker moving from the city, one of the greatest gains will be the opportunity afforded to be neighborly. Normal, pleasant association with one's neighbors along lines of mutual interest constitute one of the greatest satisfactions of living. Such contacts thrive in country villages, and it is largely on that account that so much charm is associated with rural life. — Christian Science Monitor.

MY NEW YORK

By JAMES ASWELL

NEW YORK—When in Manhattan—

It is considered proper for gentlemen to remove their hats when traveling in elevators of apartment buildings containing ladies, but headgear remains in place during the ascensions of office buildings. Which raises the fine point of what to do when going up or down in a structure which contains both offices and private apartments.

Ten per cent of the check is considered a sufficient tip for waiters, who often draw no salaries but even pay for their jobs, while the honorarium for hat-check girls and cigarette vendors is frequently from 50 to 100 per cent—and the latter must, in almost every case, turn over all gifts to the boss!

In a bus or surface car gentlemen often surrender their seats to old ladies with bundles or to young ladies with looks—but anyone doing the same on a subway during the rush hour is glanced at by other commuters as something of a slob.

Taxi drivers contribute from 25 to 50 cents apiece weekly to doormen of fashionable apartments for the privilege of remaining in line, ready for calls, near the entrance. A portal flunky in the old days used to total $10,000 a year from all sources if he had a good location; now he must be content with $3,900 to $5,000, or only a little more than most of the tenants of the building he guards make.

Chinese restaurants, even those in the most native part of Chinatown, are the most moral establishments in the world. Although they are frequented, during the noon hour in the business districts, by young working girls hungry for romance, a gentleman who dares to speak to a lady with whom he did not enter the place chances almost certain ejection. In one such dime-and-dance hall a few years ago a friend of mine was escorted to the door by two slant-eyed waiters for shouting "Hello, Kit!" to Katharine Cornell across several tables—and he had known her well for 10 years!

It is considered very bad taste for patrons of the theater to talk loudly and make spectacles of themselves—to be that used to be referred to as "common"—unless they have an evening attire and are attending a "first night." Then anything goes.

HOP SKIP AND JUMP

Then there was the case of the gangster who had to pawn his gun, due to depressed conditions in the industry.....The mystery novel manufacturers work ceaselessly, and their output dwarfs in quantity all other literary production. Yet when someone stated that the word "mystery" appearing in book titles was "murder," he also was wrong...."The" beats murder out by several thousand, if you want to fudge a bit and count the article; but my own tabulators also insist that "mystery" tops "murder," too—borne out by a census of the volumes in a nearby store.....

Incidentally, scores of British mystery stories appear every week without the inclusion of the word "blood" once, even.....Quite an achievement for a crime yarn....The English are very touchy about the noun, even when it is not the slang adjective derivative which appals them too terribly.

The National Council of Parent Education, organized about six years ago, is a clearing house for all organized parent education efforts of the country. It is a sort of federation having as its membership not individual persons but organizations such as the Parent Teachers Association, American Association of University Women, Child Study Association of America, and the parent education department of the reading colleges and universities.

The National Council of Parent Education held a meeting recently in Washington, D. C., attended by the writer whose department is a member. This meeting considered reports of parent education in relation to public school programs. Home-school relationships became the central theme.

Naturally, there were offered some conflicting points of view. One school system reported a pre-tenacious program in which the school authorities spent their efforts at making the parents individually and in groups familiar with the school program, assuming that the whole purpose of parent education is to indoctrinate the home with the idea that the school is the sole guide of the home and that parents are to turn their attention to knowing what the school is doing and co-operate in terms of what the school wants them to do.

Many of the delegates took issue with this school's point of view, condemning it as one-sided. They contended that to assume the school is always right and that parents should be expected to conform as mere servants of the school is to endanger progress; that parents as a rule objected to the suggestion that they should be looked upon as benighted creatures to be "patronized" by up-lifters of the school; that the school had much to learn from the home; that it was not co-operation anyway when the school merely told the parents what to do.

The writer shared in these objections. I believe the average teacher needs to learn much more about the home from which his pupil comes so as to deal with the child more nearly as a continuous personality whose feelings, which is the most of him, is tied up with that of the family. I believe, therefore, most heartily in the parent-teacher association which is really one, and not an independent local unit wrongly known by that name, as the best medium for teachers to learn about the home.

Unfortunately, the average teacher still seems to look upon the PTA as a means of boosting his own program, or as a necessary evil. If she attends, she may go to help in the program or just to please her principal or superintendent or encourage the "inferior" parents in their efforts to be better parents, particularly so the better patrons of the school. Rarely does it occur to the average teacher that the PTA affords her an opportunity to learn about the home in order that she might teach better.

Before the PTA can do its best service for the child in whose behalf it has been organized and carried on, the school will need to realize its opportunity to have the home interpreted to it.

EDUCATING THE CHILD IN THRIFT

"Children enjoy the delights of anticipation," says Elwood Lloyd, IV, in "How to Finance Home Life." "If a future pleasure is properly presented to them, they will work harder and longer to accomplish the pleasure than is true in the case of the average grown-up. Children will save more honestly and consistently than the adult for the purpose of accomplishing a definite thing."

He goes on to say that the education of the child in thrift may be made a game that children enjoy playing. "If the small boy likes to pretend he is a big business man, why not take advantage of that liking and show him how he can turn the game of make-believe into a reality?"

He can be shown that his 25 cents a week will amount in the course of a year to $13. With that, much money he can do bigger things than he could do with the quarters.

The little girl can be shown that one reason that mother is so "smart" is that she manages the home so economically, making the dollars go far and always putting by some of the family income for the "rainy day." It is a fine thing for a tiny girl to know that in time she will have a home of her own and that it is part of her job to learn to run it well—as well as her mother does hers.

Of course it is necessary for the parents to have learned this lesson themselves before they can play it very enthusiastically with the child.

That is why young people are encouraged to start, even before the wedding bells peal, to plan for the proper running of their home by budgeting.

Two requests for an article on gout have been repeated, so here it is.

It is strange that such requests should come in at all, for gout is, today, a very rare disease. It must have been much more common 150 years ago to judge from the many references to it in eighteenth century literature and representations of old men with the gout in art and caricature of that period. The only other explanations of its rarity—either that in the eighteenth century physicians called every pain in the toe, gout, or that we do not recognize it today—hardly seem reasonable: gout is such a painful and characteristic disease that it hardly can be mistaken.

The idea that gout is much more prevalent in England than America is not borne out by statistics. There were only one-third fewer cases of gout admitted to Johns Hopkins hospital during a given time than to St. Bartholomew's hospital in London. The disease seems to be disappearing as much in England as here.

The cause of gout appears to be the accumulation of uric acid in the body. Man is of all animals the least able to destroy uric acid in the body. In gouty patients this is excessive and deposits of sodium urate are laid down in the joints, particularly the joint of the big toe.

The pain of an acute attack of gout is of the most exquisitely excruciating character. It insinuates itself into all the crevices of the toes and ligaments around them. Sydenham, the greatest of English physicians, who was himself a sufferer from the gout, speaks of its "cruelty."

Gouty deposits not always are confined to the great toe but may be in nearly any joint. In nearly every case there are little nodules of them, called tophi, in the cartilage of the shell of the ear. The final diagnosis is usually made by extracting these ear deposits and putting them under the microscope for identification. The blood also contains an excess of uric acid.

There is also a condition known as chronic gout with deformities of the joints. The older physicians also described "irregular gout," describing gout of the skin, liver, heart, kidneys, etc. This view has, I think, been largely discredited.

The treatment of gout consists in reducing the sources of uric acid in the diet. These sources are the nucleic-proteins particularly meats, and most especially, bouillon, beef extracts, sweetbreads, liver, kidneys and brains. Starchy dishes, probably on account of the content of vegetable protein from the flour, and peas, and beans, are usually restricted. Alcoholic beverages, particularly wines, are well known enemies of the gouty.

General bodily hygiene is important—regular hours, exercise, fresh air, and moderate eating. In the famous old dialogue of the Gout says:

"I take no pleasure in these hard rough, tough legs of people, who are never at rest, but always exercising their bodies with hard labors, and are ever moiling and toying and are content with a slender diet."

"MY DEAR MISS LEE: I am a girl 20 years old and am madly in love with a man of 35 of high social standing. His love making is simply divine. He rushes me off my feet. I'm sure he loves me or he wouldn't treat me as he does."

"There is only one obstacle in our path—his wife and two children. There is also a boy I was raised with. He thinks the world of me and I like him but in more of a sisterly fashion. He wants to marry me. I don't know which to choose. Should I marry my childhood sweetheart or go on with the other? I find the latter more interesting."

"FLUTTERING HEART." Don't marry your childhood sweetheart while you are infatuated with this married man. It wouldn't be fair to him. You would always be thinking how much inferior he was in every way to this fascinating older man who is above you socially and who makes love to you so "divinely"—and dishonorably.

You may be young, my dear, but you surely are not so young and unsophisticated that you do not know that the married man is making love to you only for a thrill, and that he would never divorce his wife and give up his children and marry you.

Men in his position simply don't do those things. And, moreover, if you were his equal socially he probably would not make love to you the way he does.

And imagine how you would feel if you were in his wife's shoes! Nice man, making love to a girl like you with his wife and children trust him to be true to them. Don't let him make love to you, dear. He dishonors you by so doing.

Drink Fruit Juice

By GLADYS GLAD

Most women have the idea that the liberal consumption of fruit juice is important only in the good old summer time. And I suppose it's quite logical that they should have this idea. For nice cool lemonade and orangeades prove admirable thirst quenchers during the torrid days of the summer season.

However, a generous intake of fruit juices is just as important in winter, to my way of thinking, as it is in the summer.

During the frigid season we must all combat the sedentaryness of the wintry days. And in addition, during this season, our daily menus are usually comprised of heavy foods and rich dishes. In the summer, as a rule, we partake of lighter meals, consisting mostly of fresh vegetables and leafy salads. But the heaviness of our meals during the winter makes it all the more important that we imbibe plentifully of fruit juices.

Spring is the time that we should begin preparing ourselves for the dehydrating days of summer. But if we begin now, before spring is actually here, we'll be just that much better off. For if we put our bodies into the pink of condition, we won't be needing any "sulphur and molasses" to help us through the spring season. And we won't find the hot summer days half so dehydrating.

Take my tip, then, and begin now to drink plenty of fruit juices. Take your orange juice at breakfast each morning. Drink liberally of any of the citrus fruit juices during the daytime. And be sure to drink about ten glasses of water each day in order to flush your entire system and sweep it clean of poisonous wastes.

And if you have the idea that orange and lemon juices are too acidulous, and are therefore not good for you—get rid of it. For although these fruit juices are distinctly acid in taste, they have an ultimate alkaline reaction in the body. The acids they contain are chiefly citric and malic acids, and it has been found that the human body can utilize almost any amount of these organic acids.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Who knoweth the spirit of man that goeth upward, and the spirit of the beast that goeth downward to the earth?—Ecclesiastes, iii, 21.

STATE OF ANKUO

The newly created Manchurian state of Ankuo has been described as a republic, which will have to be steered through a period of tutelage by a ruler with dictatorial powers. The selection of Henry Pu Yi for that task is in a sense a restoration of the last Manchu emperor of China to the throne of his ancestors before they passed through the Great Wall to rule China for 268 years.

The last act of the Empress Dowager Tzu Hsi before she died on Nov. 15, 1908, was to proclaim her grand-nephew, Pu Yi, emperor of China in succession to Kuanghsu, whose death preceded her own by only 24 hours. The "boy emperor," as he was called at the time, was then only 4 years of age, a son of P'ri'e Ch'un who was a younger brother of Kuanghsu. When he became emperor he was given the name of Hsuan-t'ung. The revolution that broke in 1911 was already in the making; and Prince Ch'un, whose character was an odd mixture of tactlessness and stubbornness, was utterly unable successfully to cope with the rising tide of popular revolt. The Great Pure Dynasty which had given the Chinese an able historian of China records, the best government they ever had, went out of existence on Feb. 12, 1912. With it went Hsuan-t'ung. A condition of his abdication was that he should retain his titles a palace and a pension of 4,000,000 taels a year.

After that Pu Yi, to use his personal name, enjoyed an honorable retirement. Chinese and foreign tutors attended to his education. What little has been made public of his private life pictures him as a normal young man, who would not be likely to seek the anachronistic honors that have just been thrust upon him. Shortly after the Japanese invaded Manchuria last year it was reported that Pu Yi had been "spirited" out of China and was being "groomed" for the leadership of a new state to be erected in Manchuria under Japanese auspices. Called to the throne of China by palace intrigue on the eve of revolution, Pu Yi may find if China and the Western Powers refuse to recognize Ankuo as a legitimate state, that the end of his public life is no less troubled than its beginning.

Other Editorial Thoughts

BACK TO THE FARM VILLAGE

For a number of years there has been so much talk about America's deserted farms and the rush of youth to the large cities that many were beginning to fear the country districts would soon become depopulated. The exodus, however, has not been so pronounced as some statistics would seem to indicate, and for a decade or more there has been in numerous sections a marked trend in the opposite direction.

Although farming in general has probably been less profitable than in some periods in the past, certain forms of it have become more remunerative. The last few generations have seen a marked change in consumers' demand regarding food, and in consequence there has arisen an excellent market for fruit, vegetables and poultry and dairy products. In market gardening and in poultry and dairy plants the personal factor is still more important than machinery, and large amounts of labor continue to be required for economical production.

The advantage of this newer type of farming is not confined to the greater variety of products demanded, but in many places is closely associated with improved local markets. With the motortruck and good roads many a farmer can develop within a few hours' haul a number of select customers for such articles as he may produce. Taken as a whole, the outlook for the intelligent farmer is not entirely dark, and many who some years ago deserted that occupation are now beginning to recognize its advantages and are returning.

Improved living conditions in the country also have much to do with the recent trend in that direction. Present-day facilities for communication and modern conveniences in the home are making residence in the country more desirable; and hand in hand with these adjuncts of everyday life have come some of the cultural opportunities so long regarded as the exclusive possession of the city.

A potent influence working for a better distribution of population is the growing practice of locating industries in small towns and villages. In literally thousands of towns of less than 5,000 population in the United States there is a total dearth of industries except such as rely directly upon agriculture. This situation has tended to narrow the view and contract the sympathies of both the farmer and the industrialist. The wider diffusion of industries will be of great advantage to all.

To the farmer it means improved living conditions, more varied contacts, better markets and increased cultural opportunities. To the factory man who formerly worked and lived in congested quarters in some city it means reduced living costs, a more commodious home, a garden for flowers and vegetables, and most likely opportunity for some outside diversion and income such as poultry raising. Above all, it takes him and his family away from the dirt and noise of the city and brings them into close contact with nature.

Improved farm conditions and the scattering of factories can do much to rejuvenate decadent villages and make them once again the important factor in national life they were in our early history. If they grasp their opportunities, they will not only develop for the farmer improved trade facilities, but will provide suitable channels for innumerable social activities now greatly needed. Educational advantages can be brought on a par with those in progressive cities and the instincts for beauty can be given opportunity for expression.

To the factory worker moving from the city, one of the greatest gains will be the opportunity afforded to be neighborly. Normal, pleasant association with one's neighbors along lines of mutual interest constitute one of the greatest satisfactions of living. Such contacts thrive in country villages, and it is largely on that account that so much charm is associated with rural life. — Christian Science Monitor.

MY NEW YORK

By JAMES ASWELL

NEW YORK—When in Manhattan—

It is considered proper for gentlemen to remove their hats when traveling in elevators of apartment buildings containing ladies, but headgear remains in place during the ascensions of office building lifts. Which raises the fine point of what to do when going up or down in a structure which contains both offices and private apartments.

Ten per cent of the check is considered a sufficient tip for waiters, who often draw no salaries but even pay for their jobs, while the honorarium for hat-check girls and cigarette vendors is frequently from 50 to 100 per cent—and the latter must, in almost every case, turn over all gifts to the boss!

In a bus or surface car gentlemen often surrender their seats to old ladies with bundles or to young ladies with looks—but anyone doing the same on a subway during the rush hour is glanced at by other commuters as something of a sap.

Taxi drivers contribute from 25 to 50 cents apiece weekly to doormen of fashionable apartments for the privilege of remaining in line, ready for calls, near the entrance. A portable trunk in the old days used to total $10,000 a year from all sources if he had a good location; now he must be content with $3,900 to $5,000, or only a little more than most of the tenants of the building he guards make.

Chinese restaurants, even those in the most native part of Chinatown, are the most moral establishments in the world. Although frequented during the noon hour in the business districts, by young working girls hungry for romance, a gentleman who dares to speak to a lady with whom he did not enter the place chances almost certain ousting. In one such dime-and-dance hall a few years ago a friend of mine was escorted to the door by two slanted waiters for shouting "Hello, Kiki!" to Katharine Cornell across several tables—and he had known her well for 10 years!

It is considered very bad taste for patrons of the theater to talk loudly and make spectacles of themselves—to be what used to be referred to as "common"—unless they have on evening attire and are attending a "first night." Then anything goes.

HOP SKIP AND JUMP

Then there was the case of the gangster who had to pawn his gun, due to depressed conditions in the industry.....The mystery-novel manufacturers work ceaselessly, and their output dwarfs in quantity all other literary production.....Yet when someone stated that the word most frequently appearing in book titles was "murder," he also was wrong...."The" beats murder out by several thousands, if you want to fudge a bit and count the article; but my own tabulators also insist that "mystery" tops "murder," too—borne out by a census of the volumes in a nearby store.....

Incidentally,....of British mystery stories appear every week without the inclusion of the word "blood" once, even....Quite an achievement for a crime yarn....The English are very touchy about the noun, even when it is not the slang adjective derivative which appals them too terribly.

"Virginia, I go to the movies twice a week and when I get home my mother says, 'I know why you go to the movies, so you can meet some fellow there.' That's all I've been hearing for the past year. I had a lot of nice girl friends but because they had boy friends I wouldn't be let out with them, so now I haven't any, I guess."

"I don't drink, smoke or go to any wild parties and I never went with a girl that did. Virginia, it's hard to find a girl who doesn't go with boys. You'd think it was a crime to go with a girl that did the way my father and mother act. My mother says she's doing right to keep me in. What do you think?"

"DISCOURAGED BETTY ANNE."

I think your mother is very wise, Betty Anne, but it seems difficult to convince some parents that the surest way to make their children wild and rebellious and unhappy and a lot of other things they should not be, is to keep them under lock and key, so to speak.

You can't do much about it as you are under age. Try to fill your life with interesting books, music, enjoy the little pleasures you are permitted to have, and wait until you are of age to do the things you want to do. You surely know, if you have been reading this column, that I do not think it is a crime to have boy friends. I consider that it is the natural thing for a girl of your age to have friends of both sexes.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: Please tell 'Nappanee Blue Eyes' I am a girl who does not use tobacco, drink smoke or kiss every boy that comes along. I am 16."

"WAKARUSA BROWN EYES. Good girl!"

Drink Fruit Juice

By GLADYS GLAD

Most women have the idea that the liberal consumption of fruit juices is important only in the good old summer time. And I suppose it's quite logical that they should have this idea.

For nice, cool lemonades and orangeades prove admirable thirst quenchers during the torrid days of the summer season.

However, a generous intake of fruit juices is just as important in winter, to my way of thinking, as it is in the summer.

During the cold season we must all combat the sedentary nature of the wintry days. And in addition, during this season, our daily menus are usually comprised of heavy foods and rich dishes. In the summer, as a rule, we partake of lighter meals, consisting mostly of fresh vegetables and leafy salads. But the heaviness of our meals during the winter makes it all the more important that we imbibe plentifully of fruit juices.

Spring is the time that we should begin preparing ourselves for the devastating days of summer. But if we begin now, before spring is actually here, we'll be just that much better off. For if we put our bodies into the pink of condition, we won't be needing any "sulphur and molasses" to help us through the spring season. And we won't find the hot summer days half so devastating.

Take my tip, then, and begin now to drink plenty of fruit juices. Take your orange juice at breakfast every morning. Drink liberally of any of the citrus fruit juices during the daytime. And be sure to drink about ten glasses of water each day in order to flush your entire system and sweep it clean of poisonous wastes.

And if you have the idea that orange and lemon juices are too acidulous, and are therefore not good for you—get rid of it. For although these fruit juices are distinctly acid in taste, they have an ultimate alkaline reaction in the body. The acids they contain are chiefly citric and malic acids, and it has been found that the human body can utilize almost any amount of these organic acids.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Brown Spots
Mrs. J. T.: To eradicate brown spots, use a solution of hyposulphite of soda and water, one part of the chemical to eight parts of water.

Camomile Tea
Mrs. R. B.: The camomile tea rinse is used to bring out the high lights in blonde and brown hair. A handful of camomile flowers should be boiled in a pint of clear water, strained and the resultant water added to the usual solution.

Standard Weight
F. R.: I think that a girl 16 years of age and 5 feet 6 inches tall should weigh about 126 pounds.

Bow-Legs
L. G. G.: After the age of 16 years an operation is usually necessary to correct bow-legs. If you are under 16, however, the exercises in my booklet on "Care of the Feet and Legs" may help to shape your legs more

Thanks to civic-mindedness on the part of a large number of Xenia merchants and other individuals, Xenia Central High's basketball squad was afforded its annual overnight trip to Columbus last week-end to attend the state basketball tournament.

All expenses of the coach, ten players and manager were paid, including transportation, meals and tickets and hotel rooms, thus showing that the entertainment supplied by the high school cagers on the court last season was not unappreciated by Xenia fans. In acknowledgement of this generous spirit on the part of local firms and individuals who made possible the free two-day trip the following letter has been received from Principal F. R. Woodruff of the high school, for reproduction in this space:

Dear Sir:

"We wish to express through your column the appreciation and thanks of Central High's basketball squad for the trip to the state tournament at Columbus last week-end."

"We wish to thank Messrs. Fred Lang, Theatrical White and Ernest Beatty for transportation. We wish to thank the following firms and individuals for the contributions which took care of the expense of the meals and tickets:

COURT BARGAIN TO HELP CHARITY HERE

Finals will be written to the current basketball season when a charity doubleheader is staged on the National Guard armory floor here Wednesday night.

The season has been prolonged for the sake of playing two benefit contests in which four of the best independent quintets in this locality will be featured.

Net proceeds of the affair will be turned over to Foody Post, No. 95, American Legion, and the fund will be used for charity, it is announced.

The headline attraction will be a game involving the O. S. and S. O. Home employees and the Green Garden Restaurant quintet of this city.

An attractive preliminary has also been scheduled in which the Famous Five will play a return game with Schneider's Service Station team of Alpha.

ROOSEVELT AND
HOWARD IN GEORGIA

ATLANTA, Ga., Mar. 23.—Georgia's presidential primary today has Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, opposed only by Judge G. H. Howard, of Atlanta, supporter of Speaker of the House John N. Garner, of Texas, in the contest for twenty-eight votes in the Democratic convention.

Roosevelt expected to win easily, rates as an adopted favorite son of Georgia. He visits the Warm Springs health resort several times annually.

FOUR RECORDS SHATTERED WHEN HOME TANK TEAM WINS DUAL MEET

Four pool records were broken in a dual swimming meet in which the O. S. and S. O. Home tank stars outclassed Westernville High School, to win by a decisive margin of 49 to 17 here Tuesday.

The cadet tank team captured first places in each of the seven events that made up the program.

Home teams finished first and second in the 160-yard relay race, the time being one minute and thirty-two seconds.

Robert Jones established a new mark of twenty-nine and four-tenths seconds in winning the forty-yard breast stroke. The former record was eclipsed by one and one-half seconds.

A new record was established for the forty-yard free style event when James Shriner swam the distance in twenty-three and one-tenth seconds, surpassing the old mark four tenths of a second.

The third new record to be set up was in the forty-yard back stroke, which Murray Jones won in twenty-three and eight-tenths seconds. He clipped three and seven-tenths seconds off the previous time. Jones also gave another record-breaking performance in winning the 100-yard free style race in one minute and three seconds, one-tenth of a second faster than the old mark.

Lawrence Rhodes gave the cadets a first place in diving and the Home's second team finished first in the 120-yard medley relay in one minute, twenty-three and five-tenths seconds.

The cadet first team composed of Murray and Robert Jones and James Shriner, afterward staged a special relay event, swimming the 120 yards against time and establishing a mark of one minute, sixteen and nine-tenths seconds considered exceptionally fast time.

The Home swimmers will compete in their last dual meet here Thursday night, splashing against McClain High School from Greenfield. The meet will begin at 8 o'clock. Recently the Home swimmers defeated McClain aquatic stars, 40 to 35, in the McClain pool.

The last for six members of the Home tank team, including Murray Jones, star swimmer.

Funeral services will be held in Detroit Friday morning at 9 o'clock.

COUNTY OBITUARY,
FUNERAL NOTICES

MRS. H. C. PORTER

Word was received here Wednesday of the sudden death of Mrs. H. C. Porter, 45, Detroit, Mich., who was before marriage, Miss Bessie Knisley, this city.

Mrs. Porter was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Knisley, her father being a former Xenia trustee officer. Mrs. Porter graduated from high school here and went to Detroit about fifteen years ago. Besides her husband she is survived by two sons and a daughter in Detroit; her mother, Mrs. Frank Knisley and a brother, Pierce Knisley, also of Detroit. Mrs. D. E. Knisley and Carl Knisley, this city, are an aunt and cousin, respectively, of Mrs. Porter.

Funeral services will be held in Detroit Friday morning at 9 o'clock.

MRS. ETTA LINTON

Funeral services for Mrs. Etta Linton, 72, mother of Mrs. Larue Carr, Osawatomie, Kan., formerly of this city, were held in Wilmington Tuesday afternoon and burial was made there.

Mrs. Linton died at the home of her daughter in Osawatomie where she had gone several months ago to reside. She formerly lived in Wilmington. She often visited here at the Carr home and had many friends in this city. Mr. Carr was formerly a teacher at Central High School. Besides her daughter, Mrs. Carr, a son, Henry Linton, Columbus, survives. Mrs. Linton was a cousin of Mrs. John Dymond, S. Monroe, St.

MRS. BENJAMIN ROUND

Mrs. Lida Hartman Round, 65, wife of Benjamin Round, 38 Harbison St., Dayton, and former Xenian, died at a Dayton hospital Monday evening at 6 o'clock following an illness of several months.

Mrs. Round was born in Wilmington but spent her early girlhood in Xenia and later moved to Dayton. Besides her husband she is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Eva Buck, Dayton, and Miss Prudence Hartman, Crawfordsville, Ind.

Funeral services will be held at Moore's Funeral Home, 2318 E. Third St., Dayton, Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock and burial will be made in Woodland Cemetery, this city.

J. H. McCARTY

In failing health for the last several years, J. H. McCarty, 72, died Tuesday night.

Mr. McCarty was born in Xenia in 1860, the youngest son of Hester Ann and Andrew McCarty and with the exception of a few years spent in the West, had lived in this city his entire life. He was a cabinet maker and upholsterer.

While living in the West he was married to Miss Sadie Montgomery, who died in 1915. Since his wife's death he had lived alone.

No immediate relatives survive.

Private funeral services will be held Friday at the Neel funeral home, with burial in Woodland Cemetery.

ALABAMA GOVERNOR

crying in a nearby corn patch, blown clear of the wreckage, and unharmed, thank God.

"Then we went down the road to find our next door neighbor, Battle Hamilton. We couldn't find his house."

"We found him down the road cut to pieces, his body hanging on a barbed wire fence."

"His wife had been blown into the corn patch and was badly hurt. We finally found their six-month old boy dead in a creek, a half mile away."

The Joe Littleton homestead presented another picture.

He was a famous fox hunter in this district. His body lay near what was left of the house. Five of his hunting dogs, loyal even in tragedy, crouched quietly in the ruins, and refused all day long to budge.

At one place I saw seventy-five homes sprayed over the country side as if brushed by a gigantic broom.

Another section was cut as cleanly as if by a huge scythe, a path a mile wide and six miles long. One farmer's stove had been blown high in the air and lodged in a tree.

Mattie Richardson, a Negro woman near Birmingham, "seen that tornado coming. It was a ball of fire. It chased me from the depot to my house and blew me between a chair and a wash stand."

Luther Kelly, also of Sylacauga, lost his second wife in the storm. The first Mrs. Kelly was killed in the 1917 storm.

John M. Queen of Thorsby, also in Chilton County, received two broken legs, and other severe injuries; his baby was killed in his arms; his wife, Lucille, died under falling timbers. They had six children.

From Georgia came stories to relief headquarters of what had happened there where twenty-nine were killed.

One family at Avondale northwest of Atlanta was saved when the father, John Henry Law, his home battering to pieces about him, seized a bed post which had been driven into the ground. His family gathered about him, and they hung on for their lives.

Another family there leaped into a shallow pit.

And, a dog nursing some puppies born Sunday, saved them by crouching under the floor of Gus Cannon's home. Cannon was killed by timbers of his own home.

Relief work is under way in every district. Three companies of National Guardsmen are in the Northwest area with units of the state university R. O. T. C. from Tuscaloosa across the river.

Extension service workers from Auburn Sunday, saved them by crouching under the floor of Gus Cannon's home. Cannon was killed by timbers of his own home.

Relief work is under way in every district. Three companies of National Guardsmen are in the Northwest area with units of the state university R. O. T. C. from Tuscaloosa across the river.

The Red Cross and Legion have sent truckloads of coats, tents, blankets, old clothing and supplies including food to the storm areas. Much is National Guard equipment.

More food, clothing, supplies and money is needed. Governor Miller in his appeal last night asked that "such contributions be made to the local chapters of the Red Cross in the neighborhood nearest the stricken area, or to the Birmingham headquarters, which will properly distribute them."

REAR ADMIRAL HUGH RODMAN TO ADDRESS GRADUATES OF HOME

Rear Admiral Hugh Rodman, retired, of the United States navy, who was with Admiral Dewey at Manila, served with the grand fleet in the North Sea during the World War and was later commander of the Pacific fleet, will deliver the commencement address at graduation exercises at the O. S. and S. O. Home high school in June.

Admiral Rodman, a native of Frankfort, Ky., is retired after having been in the navy for fifty years. Upon being graduated from the U. S. naval academy at Annapolis, virtually his entire service was with the Pacific fleet.

Subject of his commencement address has not been announced, but it is expected he will relate many of his experiences during his long and adventurous career with the navy.

The admiral has frequently appeared as speaker on programs of many civic and patriotic organizations and spoke recently before the chamber of commerce at Cincinnati.

An autobiography of Admiral Rodman entitled "Yarns of a Kentucky Admiral," was recently presented to the Home children by the author and has been placed in the Ex-Pupils' Memorial Library.

HERMAN GETTING INTO CONDITION

TAMPA, Fla., March 23.—The baseball camp of the Cincinnati Reds today showed more interest toward Babe Herman, slugging outfielder acquired from Brooklyn, than toward any other player in the majors.

Herman went through his first practice with the Reds with extreme agility. He said he would not be in condition to play in an exhibition game for a week or more, but that a recent physical examination had showed him to be in perfect shape. A little conditioning of the Babe's muscles will put him in top form.

Manager Dan Howley pleased Herman by telling him to take his time at rounding into playing condition.

"When you feel you are ready to play, we'll send you into right field," Howley told him.

Howley said the Reds' squad eventually would be cut to twenty-three men—nine pitchers, three catchers, six infielders, and five outfielders. He said he could not name the lucky players yet.

MEN MAY VOTE DOG
BEAUTY QUEEN

GRANVILLE, O., March 23.—Men students of Denison University contended they have not the proper voice in selection of a May Queen.

The men have revolted against a slate of seven candidates for queen and have introduced four additional co-eds as nominees on ground the original candidates were named by a committee ruled by women.

"The women picked the candidates for student activity rather than beauty," said Richard Kruse, president of the men's student government council. Kruse admitted the original nominees were "good-looking girls" but said some of them "could be improved upon."

"The men have declared that if their wishes were not respected they will elect 'Woogs,' a campus dog of obscure antecedents and homely countenance, to wear the crown of May."

Postmaster General To Help Dedicate Liner

By MILDRED MASON

POSTMASTER General Walter F. Brown and governors of four states will participate in the launching of the liner, Santa Rosa in the yards of the Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock Co., at Kearney, N. Y., which will be broadcast over an NBC network Thursday. The program will be on the air at two periods although stations to broadcast it are not avail- able.

Pastmaster General Brown will speak from 10 to 10:15 a. m. and the launching of the ship and address by Governors A. Harry Moore, of New Jersey, Wilbur L. Cross, of Connecticut, Gifford Pin- chot, of Pennsylvania and Joseph P. Ely, of Massachusetts will be broadcast from 11:30 a. m. to 12 o'clock noon. The Santa Rosa is the first of four new vessels to be constructed under the provisions of the Jones-White merchant mar- ine act.

Comedienne is Guest. Frances Williams, singing com- edienne of the stage, will be starred with Rudy Vallee and his Con- necticut Yankees in a program over an NBC network through WSAI, Cincinnati, Thursday at 8 p. m. Miss Williams, who first introduced the Charleston over an NBC net- work, will sing in characteristic style and will take part in skits with Vallee and Ray Perkins, also featured on the program.

To Dramatize Stories. Rudyard Kipling's stories of India will be dramatized for radio listeners in a series of programs, the first to be heard over an NBC network through WSAI, Cincinnati, Thursday at 9:30 p. m. The story to be dramatized on the first broad- cast is "The Man Who Would Be King."

To Sing Favorites. Selections from the musical shows, "The Cat and Fiddle," "New Moon" and "Bitter Sweet" will be sung by Countess Olga Albani in her program over an NBC network Thursday at 9:30 p. m. In addition she will sing "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows."

Play from California. Tom Coakley's Orchestra, play- ing from an exclusive club in Oak- land, Calif., will be heard over an NBC network through WSAI, Cin- cinnati, Thursday at 10 p. m. An- son Weeks' Orchestra playing from San Francisco, will be heard on the same program.

Mary Wigman Twirls Through 135 Whirls

A critic who counted the twirling of Mary Wigman, latest dancing sensation in her "Monotony Whirl Dance," says it totalled 135 times and that she does not use that jerking around of the head which is the common antidote against dizziness in professional dancing.

Miss Wigman goes round and round like a flower in a malestrom until her audience is dizzy with the even rhythm. Her music—when there is any—is from Japanese drums and weird instruments. Her costumes are richly striking and her dancing original but understandable.

POSSESSIONS WILL NOT SATISFY SOUL DECLARES PASTOR

"Possessions, wealth, position and power cannot satisfy the soul. Only Christ can do this," declared the Rev. T. M. Scarff, Spring Valley, who is assisting the Rev. W. W. Foust, pastor of the First Reformed Church, in Passion Week services at the church Tuesday evening. The Rev. Mr. Scarff used as his theme, "All Things Are Yours." He pointed out that the Christian is the heir of all things through Christ. "This includes the wealth of the world, but the material must always remain secondary. It is in the spiritual realm of life where the greatest satisfactions are to be found."

The speaker declared that life and death belong to the Christian. "Life in its fullest, richest form brings the Spirit's fruits of love, joy and peace. Death also belongs to the believer and becomes the highway of transfiguration. The dying Christian is laying hold upon 'all things'. There is nothing more to be asked or gained."

Dr. B. L. Lackey led the congregation in singing old familiar hymns and Mrs. Raymond Wolf was pianist. Wednesday evening the Rev. Mr. Scarff will use as his subject, "The Universal Sin" and a quartet composed of Robert Dice, Ronald Atkinson, William Wolf and Frank James Wolf will sing.

ADMIRAL BYRD IS BRIEF VISITOR

COMMANDER RICHARD E. BYRD

REAR Admiral Richard E. Byrd paid a brief visit to Xenia at 11 o'clock Tuesday night. The distinguished explorer, accompanied by members of his party, motored from Springfield to Xenia to make train connections here for Boston, Mass.

While in this city the party stopped at Geyer's for a "midnight lunch" and the admiral was almost immediately surrounded by a group of local autograph hunters.

Byrd spoke earlier in the evening at Memorial Hall in Springfield under auspices of the Clark County Unemployment Committee. He detailed the trials and hardships of his South Polar expedition and his address was supplemented by 9,000 feet of motion picture films taken during the two-year expedition during 1928-30. He also described his actual flight by airplane over the South Pole, the first time in history this was accomplished.

The explorer was accompanied to this city by Ralph Edmonds, his manager; Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Worley, Jr., Springfield, and Joseph Rutenbrod, Springfield newspaperman. Mr. Worley is secretary of the unemployment commission of Clark County.

CHOSEN FOR CEDAR DAY HONORS JUNE 1 BY CEDARVILLE COLLEGE STUDENTS

MARION HOSTETLER

MISS RACHEL DOUTHETT

Miss Rachel Douthett, this city, will be crowned "Cedar Day queen" when Cedarville College students observe their annual Cedar Day on the campus Wednesday, June 1. Marion Hostetler, Cedarville, will deliver the Cedar Day oration.

Both Miss Douthett and Mr. Hostetler are seniors and were chosen for these honors by the student body. Miss Douthett will be crowned by Miss Sarah Rumbaugh, near Xenia, queen of Cedar Day in 1931.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Douthett, Lower Bellbrook Pike, and has been active in affairs of the college, where she is taking an arts education course toward her bachelor of arts degree. She is prominent in Y. W. C. A. work on the campus and is president of the "X" Club, composed of Cedarville College students from Xenia. She has been manager of student activities for Cedar Day for the last three years. Upon her graduation in June she will receive a state teacher's certificate which permits her to teach in any high school in the state without examination.

Mr. Hostetler is the son of Prof. A. J. Hostetler, registrar at the college. He is president of the Y. M. C. A. and is art editor of the "Cedrus", college annual.

ESTIMATE WIND DAMAGE MONDAY AT $15,000 IN GREENE COUNTY

Property damage amounting to nearly $15,000 was estimated to have been caused by a destructive windstorm that exacted a heavy toll over Greene County Monday night. A survey indicated that between 75 and 90 per cent of the loss is probably covered by insurance.

At New Burlington on the Greene-Clinton County line, where the velocity of the wind was greatest and the damage the heaviest, the gale played freakish tricks. A barn on the Daisy L. Haines property was moved thirty feet and set down intact. Another barn on the adjoining property of Mrs. Steddom was picked up by the wind and slapped down with great force on the Haines lot.

The destruction wrought at New Burlington occurred four days before the nineteenth anniversary of a flood that caused most of the residents of that community to evacuate their homes March 25, 1913. This was the date of the great Dayton flood.

High water conditions prevailed at New Burlington when Caesar's Creek and Anderson's Fork, which empties into the former stream, went on a rampage and inundated the vicinity.

Mrs. Elsie Barran—Correspondent Phone No. 192

Friends of Mrs. F. L. Harris of F. A. I. D., are calling to hear the story of the most unusual experience she met with while visiting her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Wells, 3820 Bunting Ave., Fort Worth, Texas. Mrs. Harris had been spending several weeks vacationing there when on Sunday the three decided to go to the creek off Lake Worth Road, Arlington Heights for sand to be used in porch boxes. Mr. and Mrs. Wells had driven their machine to within 100 feet of where Mrs. Harris and the Wells' pet dog, a wire haired terrier, had been playing. Mrs. Harris had been throwing the dog sticks and stones, he would retrieve and return them. Finally the dog went around a sand dune and disappeared when suddenly there was a terrific explosion, the dog was blown to bits and pieces of tin and sand were showered on Mrs. Harris. It is presumed the dog picked up a bottle or can filled with nitro-glycerine and it slipped from his mouth before he returned it to Mrs. Harris. The shock was felt miles away. A hole six feet in diameter and several feet deep was blown in the shore line of the creek by the explosion. Limbs were torn from trees and sand and water thrown nearly 100 feet. Mrs. Harris was taken immediately to Cook Memorial Hospital where physicians removed particles of tin and sand from her face and hands and treated her for shock. Her ear drums burst, but hopes for her recovery is held by the physician attending her. The blast described by ex-service men was louder than a 150 m. m. gun, and was heard all over the city. Horses plunged in fright on bridge paths in Forest Park, two miles from the scene of the explosion. Mr. and Mrs. Wells found Mrs. Harris on her hands and knees unconscious and their being in their car probably saved them from serious injury also as the car was shaken. Persons in the "Westover Hills," a suburb of Fort Worth, were almost thrown from their chairs, although this is several miles from the accident.

Mrs. Harry Frahn, Mrs. Harry Kendig and Mrs. Harry Idellinger, attended their sewing club at the home of Mrs. H. O. Sloan in Dayton Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dempsey, of F. A. I. D., had as their house guests over the week end Mrs. Loreta Miller, Mrs. C. Schaeff and son Billy, of Dayton.

Mrs. C. Wright entertained with 500 at her home at F. A. I. D., Thursday. Those present were: Mrs. Black, Mrs. Myers, Mrs. Van Pelt, Mrs. Short, Mrs. Asselin, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Erickson, Mrs. Baldwin, Mrs. Rowan and the hostess, Mrs. Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Shomer, of F. A. I. D., entertained at "500" Saturday several friends. At a late hour a delightful luncheon was served. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Russell Powell, Mr. and Mrs. Bamer, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Klover, Mr. and Mrs. Connie

PHYSICIAN AT HOME AND STAFF PRAISED BY TRUSTEE BOARD

Grateful appreciation of the services performed by Dr. A. C. Messenger, resident physician, the hospital staff, doctors and nurses during the recent influenza epidemic that prostrated more than 300 children and employees at the O. S. and S. O. Home was expressed by the board of trustees in resolutions adopted at the March board meeting.

One resolution complimented Dr. Messenger, declaring that the resident physician, "by his untiring efforts, executive ability and professional efficiency, successfully combated the ravages of this epidemic so that approximately 300 cases were successfully treated and cured without a single fatality or serious after result."

A second resolution congratulated the hospital staff for responding so efficiently to the emergency, the board conveying its thanks on behalf of the state of Ohio and foster parents of the children to all individuals who assisted in the crisis. Xenia members of the medical and surgical consulting staff who aided the resident physician were: Drs. B. R. McClellan, R. R. McClellan, R. H. Grube, H. C. Messenger, Reed Madden, Lawrence Shields, T. F. Myler and Marshall Best.

Mrs. Jim Rue, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Whitridge and son Dale, Mrs. Bolinger and son Calvin were guests of Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Warner on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Zellars and son Richard of Dayton, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Rue, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Frahn were the guests of Mr. Frahn's brother, Mr. Court Frahn of New Carlisle, O.

Mrs. Jokey Cargill of Grand Ave., was the guest of friends in Dayton Tuesday.

Mrs. Pete Klover of F. A. I. D., is ill at her home from influenza. Mrs. Morris J. Buehner of F. A. I. D., and her mother are both ill at their home.

Mrs. O. F. Shomer entertained in honor of her husband's birthday Friday evening at their home in F. A. I. D. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Pete Klover, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Powell, Mr. and Mrs. C. Asselin, Mr. and Mrs. Rowan and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Shomer.

DEPOSITORS INVITED TO FILE CLAIMS AGAINST CLOSED BANK.

Depositors of the closed Commercial and Savings Bank Co., were notified Wednesday by Ira J. Fulton, state banking superintendent, that claims against the institution may be presented by April 30.

All persons having pass books issued by the bank are requested to leave them there to be balanced, and those holding certificates of deposit are asked to bring them to the bank to be examined.

The bank failed to open its doors last February 29 and, at the request of the board of directors, the institution was taken over by the state banking department for purposes of liquidation.

Safety deposit box holders also received formal notice Tuesday through the mail to remove the contents from their boxes and turn in the keys by March 30.

Since the bank closed nearly a month ago, officials of the state department have been engaged in setting up the books, taking an inventory and transferring records. This task is now finished.

POSSESSIONS WILL NOT SATISFY SOUL DECLARES PASTOR

"Possessions, wealth, position and power cannot satisfy the soul. Only Christ can do this," declared the Rev. T. M. Scarff, Spring Valley, who is assisting the Rev. W. W. Foust, pastor of the First Reformed Church, in Passion Week services at the church Tuesday evening. The Rev. Mr. Scarff used as his theme, "All Things Are Yours."

He pointed out that the Christian is the heir of all things through Christ. "This includes the wealth of the world, but the material must always remain secondary. It is in the spiritual realm of life where the greatest satisfactions are to be found."

The speaker declared that life and death belong to the Christian. "Life in its fullest, richest form brings the Spirit's fruits of love, joy and peace. Death also belongs to the believer and becomes the highway of transfiguration. The dying Christian is laying hold upon 'all things'. There is nothing more to be asked or gained."

Dr. B. L. Lackey led the congregation in singing old familiar hymns and Mrs. Raymond Wolf was pianist. Wednesday evening the Rev. Mr. Scarff will use as his subject, "The Universal Sin" and a quartet composed of Robert Dico, Ronald Atkinson, William Wolf and Frank James Wolf will sing.

ADMIRAL BYRD IS BRIEF VISITOR

COMMANDER RICHARD E. BYRD

REAR Admiral Richard E. Byrd paid a brief visit to Xenia at 11 o'clock Tuesday night.

The distinguished explorer, accompanied by members of his party, motored from Springfield to Xenia to make train connections here for Boston, Mass.

While in this city the party stopped at Geyer's for a "midnight lunch" and the admiral was almost immediately surrounded by a group of local autograph hunters.

Byrd spoke earlier in the evening at Memorial Hall in Springfield under auspices of the Clark County Unemployment Committee. He detailed the trials and hardships of his South Polar expedition and his address was supplemented by 9,000 feet of motion picture films taken during the two-year expedition during 1928-30. He also described his actual flight by airplane over the South Pole, the first time in history this was accomplished.

The explorer was accompanied to this city by Ralph Edmonds, his manager; Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Worley, Jr., Springfield, and Joseph Rukenbrod, Springfield newspaperman. Mr. Worley is secretary of the unemployment commission of Clark County.

PHYSICIAN AT HOME AND STAFF PRAISED BY TRUSTEE BOARD

Grateful appreciation of the services performed by Dr. A. C. Messenger, resident physician, the hospital staff, doctors and nurses during the recent influenza epidemic that prostrated more than 300 children and employees at the O. S. and S. O. Home was expressed by the board of trustees in resolutions adopted at the March board meeting.

One resolution complimented Dr. Messenger, declaring that the resident physician, "by his untiring efforts, executive ability and professional efficiency, successfully combated the ravages of this epidemic so that approximately 300 cases were successfully treated and cured without a single fatality or serious after result."

A second resolution congratulated the hospital staff for responding so efficiently to the emergency, the board conveying its thanks on behalf of the state of Ohio and foster parents of the children to all individuals who assisted in the crisis. Xenia members of the medical and surgical consulting staff who aided the resident physician were: Drs. B. R. McClellan, R. R. McClellan, R. H. Grube, H. C. Messenger, Reed Madden, Lawrence Shields, T. F. Myler and Marshall Best.

The board failed to open its doors last February 29 and at the request of the board of directors, the institution was taken over by the state banking department for purposes of liquidation.

Safety deposit box holders also received formal notice Tuesday through the mail to remove the contents from their boxes and turn in the keys by March 30.

Since the bank closed nearly a month ago, officials of the state department have been engaged in setting up the books, taking an inventory and transferring records. This task is now finished.

The next step in the liquidation
